MONTGOMERY'S EIGHTH ARMY IN NEW OFFENSIVE

Daylight Sweeps Continue Assault

Intensive Aerial Attacks Carried On for Three Days

LONDON, April 6 (CP).—After seventy-two hours of the most intensive aerial onslaughts of the war, the Allied offensive against Nazi-held Europe simmered down today to daylight sweeps by R.A.F. fighters and fighter-bombers, which attacked railways, airdromes and power stations in France and Belgium.

One sweep was made by the Canadian wing in the Dieppe and Le Treport area in France, and the Air Ministry said the German defenders destroyed what appeared to be one of their ammunition dumps with their own anti-aircraft fire.

A flak shell hit a stone building, and it exploded as though it contained ammunition.

Fighter-bombers attacked an Axis airfield at St. Omer in France, and steel works and a power plant at Mondeville, near Caen. Bomb bursts were seen in the target area, which was enveloped in smoke.

At dusk, speedy Mosquito bombers raided an engine shed and railway yards at Bonet, near Namur, in Belgium.

The Air Ministry said only one fighter is missing from the day's operations.

On the home front, it was authoritatively reported that one enemy aircraft was destroyed by Allied fighters off the Northeast English coast.

Guns blazing and engines full out, a Canadian Spitfire squadron swept over France just above ground level today and scored hits on trains, army transport trucks and other transportation objectives.

There was no opposition from enemy fighters and only slight activity from ground gunners.

Flt. Lt. R. M. Stayner, of Saskatoon, scored hits on a train. Others reporting damage inflicted included Flt. Lt. F. G. Blades, of Victoria, B.C., and Flt. Sgt. B. C. Goudie, of Vancouver.

Red Army Repulses Nazi Force

Drive Germans Back On Donets Front

LONDON, April 6 (CP).—The Russians announced tonight that they have driven the Germans back from one favorable position in a strong counter-attack south of Izyum, on the Donets front, and late broadcasts from Berlin acknowledged that the Nazis are on the defensive at one point in this sector.

The Red Army counter-attack was launched after the Germans had frequently attacked Russian positions, finally becoming exhausted in stubborn fighting, said the Moscow midnight communique as recorded here by the Soviet radio monitor.

The Russians also reported sharp fighting in the Chuguev area of the Donets Basin, southeast of Kharkov, a consolidation of Soviet positions on the Smolensk sector of the western front, and fighting in the Western Caucasus in which Red troops captured a populated place.

After noting that "no substantial changes" occurred along the entire front today, the midnight bulletin told of "stubborn fighting" south of Izyum. About 400 Germans were killed, six of their tanks disabled and five of their guns destroyed.

Although the Berlin radio claimed that "mopping-up operations by German troops along the Upper Donets have been completed to such an extent that the whole western bank of the river is now incorporated in German positions," it was acknowledged that the Russians had attacked a German bridgehead on the eastern bank. The Germans said that the attack was repelled.

ARTILLERY FIRE REPELS GERMANS

"In the area of Chuguev," the Russian communique said, "the Hitlerite attack was repulsed by fire of our artillery. During the second part of the day the enemy brought

Mississippi Rises Over Flood Stage-

Hundreds Have Evacuated Homes

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., April 6 (AP).—The Mississippi River, pushing slowly upward between the limestone banks that guard Minneapolis and St. Paul, was over flood stage late today, with expectation that the water would rise another foot by tomorrow.

The possibility of heavy damage in the Twin Cities, however, was remote because of the high banks guarding the river, but precautions have been taken to protect low-lying spots. An additional twelve families were evacuated from the flats below St. Paul.

At Fargo, N.D., and Moorhead, Minn.—hardest hit of the Red River points—the water continued to rise slowly.

A survey of the cities disclosed the families from 221 homes had been evacuated. Classes were discontinued at the North Dakota Agricultural College to enable more than 200 men students to aid in flood relief. Business firms in the two cities were pumping water from basements.

In South Dakota railway service to Pierre, the state capital, from the east was suspended because of flooded tracks. Residents of near-by Fort Pierre were undergoing mass immunization against typhoid as the swollen Missouri River continued to rise.

Most Liquor to Be Had in Quarts Only

VANCOUVER, April 6 (CP).—Most of the British Columbia Liquor Control Board's stock of spirits is in reputed quarts, so under a rationing system of one pint per person per month, effective May 1, purchasers in May will automatically get their June quota, Liquor Commissioner W. F. Kennedy said today.

KILLED IN CRASH

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, April 6 (AP).—The Alaska Defence Command announced today eight men were killed in the crash of an army plane shortly after its take-off here last Thursday.

Liberals Would Extend Period Of Legislature

To Introduce Bill In Ontario Today

TORONTO, April 6 (CP).—A bill to extend the term of the present Ontario Legislature for another twelve months will be introduced by the Government tomorrow.

A caucus of Liberal party members today endorsed the recommendation for extension of the term, as against a proposal that an election be called this year, and Premier Gordon Conant shortly afterwards set the machinery in motion for presentation of the bill.

The caucus was said to have approved extension of the term by a vote of about nine to one.

The Liberal party shortly will hold a convention to choose a leader in succession to Mitchell Hepburn, who some months ago resigned as premier and named Hon. Gordon Conant as his successor in office. The legislation to be introduced tomorrow was said to be permissive in character, and whoever is chosen as party leader at the Liberal convention is not necessarily bound by it.

Bolivia Discusses War on Axis Powers

LA PAZ, Bolivia, April 6 (AP).—President Enrique Penaranda, of Bolivia, and his cabinet tonight discussed a decree to declare war on the Axis powers, holding the session after an hour-long conference with the United States Vice-President, Henry A. Wallace.

The form of the war decree will be published at noon tomorrow, it was announced after the conference, and Congress will be summoned formally to declare war. No date, however, was set for the meeting of Congress.

The Toll of Captives Has Multiplied Considerably Since Then as the British Drives Make Progress.

U.S. Treasury Publishes Draft of Currency Plan

WASHINGTON, April 6 (AP). — The United States Treasury made public tonight the draft of tentative proposals submitted to thirty-seven nations to stabilize post-war currencies, and disclosed that the United States contribution to a proposed international stabilization fund would be about $2,000,000,000.

In making public the thirteen-page document outlining a comprehensive plan which Treasury Secretary Henry Morgenthau said would help revive world trade and prevent a postwar economic collapse, the Treasury also revealed the United States would have a veto power in the huge stabilization fund by virtue of its "substantial" contribution.

It was not made clear but the general impression was that Britain would be in a similar position, of having an effective veto power because, next to the United States, it would be the biggest contributor to the fund, but there was considerable doubt over this point tonight. In any event, the United States would be one of the countries with the maximum number of votes.

This would be accomplished under proposed rules requiring a four-fifths vote of the governing board on major decisions and limiting any one country to 25 per cent of the total vote. Since the United States would be one of the countries qualifying for the maximum number of votes, it would be able, if it so desired, to block a four-fifths majority vote on any issue.

FULL RESPONSE NOT MADE YET

Morgenthau released the Treasury proposals at a special press conference this afternoon. He told reporters that responses had been received from about ten of the thirty-seven nations invited to Washington for conferences on currency stabilization, and expressed the opinion that the delay in hearing from others was due to slow-moving mails.

The Secretary emphasized that the Treasury proposals are tentative and said the United States Government will not assume the role of

Allies Never Needed Ships So Urgently

Howe Emphasizes Danger of Strikes

OTTAWA, April 6 (CP).—Munitions Minister Howe today told the House of Commons the Government's intervention in the recent steel strike was not a sign of weakness, but was dictated by the vital need of maintaining steel production.

He warned that labor leaders and employers alike who might in future be responsible for illegal strikes would find the Government on the side of the law.

Mr. Howe spoke late in an afternoon devoted almost entirely to a discussion of labor policies and during which last week's Montreal tram strike was discussed by several speakers.

The discussion arose on a routine motion to go into committee on the estimates when Angus MacInnis (C.C.F., Vancouver East) initiated a discussion on the speech made in Montreal Monday by Mr. Justice C.

Geneva Paper Says Invasion Coming Soon

Huge Allied Force in Africa Sure Sign

BERNE, Switzerland, April 6 (AP).—The recent visit of Germany's naval commander, Admiral Karl Doenitz, to Italy together with the changes made last week in the High Command of the Italian navy were said by The Geneva Journal today to be probably connected with preparations for the eventual embarkation of defeated Axis forces from Tunisia.

There no longer are any illusions in either Berlin or Rome, the newspaper said, of the final outcome of Field Marshal Rommel's delaying manoeuvres. But it added that "even with the embarkation of Italian and German troops, the Axis cannot pretend to dominate the Straits of Sicily with the Italian fleet."

The Italian fleet consists of six to eight battleships, two heavy cruisers, seven light cruisers and sixty destroyers and torpedo boats.

The newspaper said it appeared that a few weeks, maybe more, remained until lack of space and first-line airfields would "compel the Axis to quit the shores of Tunisia." It added that Britain and the United States would not have massed 700,000 to 800,000 men in Africa if they had not intended to land on the southern coast of Europe at the end of the Tunisian campaign.

Half Population Of Essen Leaves

STOCKHOLM, April 6 (AP).—An estimated 300,000 persons, chiefly women, children and men unable to work, have been removed from bomb-battered Essen to neighboring communities and camps, reports from Germany said tonight. This is approximately half the population of the great German arsenal, the reports said.

BULLETINS

JAPANESE BASES BOMBED

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, April 7 (Wednesday) (AP).—Salamaua and Finschhafen in New Guinea, Cape Gloucester and Gasmata in New Britain, and the islands of Aroe and Tanimbar have been bombed in new raids by Allied planes, the command announced today. Despite the wide area involved, operations were on a somewhat limited scale. Only in the raid on Salamaua, Japanese base on the Huon Gulf, was more than one plane involved. In that raid medium bombers started big fires in the town and silenced anti-aircraft positions. Later a single four-motored bomber bombed the jetty, demolishing supply warehouses.

CHILD'S BODY FOUND

PITTSBURGH, April 7 (Wednesday) (AP).—The body of Theresa Williams, four, was found early this morning buried in the basement of a neighbor's home, less than twelve hours after she disappeared. Police Lieut. Michael Dougherty said the child had been murdered. Scores of men in the neighborhood had joined police in a search.

NO PLANS FOR LA GUARDIA

WASHINGTON, April 6 (AP).—President Roosevelt declared today he has no plans to nominate Mayor LaGuardia, of New York, for a commission in the United States Army. Recurring reports have had it that LaGuardia was in line to become a brigadier-general.

Great Act of Heroism Comes From Sinking of Canadian Ship

SOMEWHERE IN SCOTLAND, April 6 (CP).—Out of the sinking of the Canadian corvette Weyburn has come one of the war's great acts of individual heroism—that of a Royal Navy surgeon-lieutenant who disregarded his own two broken legs to attend more than fifty injured and wounded seamen for more than twelve hours.

The surgeon-lieutenant, whose name cannot be disclosed, was the medical officer on the British destroyer which picked up most of the Weyburn's survivors after the Canadian warship was wounded mortally by an unexplained explosion on convoy duty in the Mediterranean a few weeks ago.

The doctor was standing on the destroyer's deck helping the Weyburn survivors from the water when there was a terrific under-water explosion. Both the doctor's legs were broken below the knee. He refused all efforts to carry him to a cot, called three ratings to help him and went to work.

Survivors of the Weyburn, waiting at this base for transportation back to Canada, told how the doctor had the ratings carry him around the destroyer's decks to attend some of the wounded and injured. Then he had the ratings carry him to the destroyer's wardroom, by this time filled with wounded from the Weyburn and destroyer men injured in the second explosion.

By each cot the ratings would place him in a sitting position on the floor, from where he would make an examination and give orders for treatment to the sick bay attendant. Then the strange little procession would move on to the next wounded man.

Only when every examination was made did he permit himself to be placed in a chair with his legs stretched out straight in front of him for what small measure of comfort was possible. But he still refused to stop work.

He sat in the chair for hours until the destroyer reached Gibraltar, directing the treatment of the several seriously wounded and burned men. He relaxed only when doctors came on board to take the wounded to more comfortable quarters.

Mighty Push to Drive Rommel From Africa

Buildings Topple in Earthquake

Eighteen Known Deaths In Severe Tremors

SANTIAGO, Chile, April 6 (AP).—The Interior Ministry reported late tonight that a severe, forty-second earthquake which rocked the northern coast of Chile today killed at least eighteen persons and injured eighty-one in the Provinces of Aconcagua and Coquimbo.

The quake, most disastrous in Chile since the one in 1939 which killed some 30,000 persons, tumbled down houses and buildings over a wide area.

The Interior Ministry announced that Raul Aldunate, director of civilian defence, had been sent into the region to organize relief committees.

Seven were reported killed in Ovalle Village, north of Santiago.

Big buildings in Santiago creaked and swayed, and frightened crowds rushed into the streets. The buildings of the Ministries of War and Agriculture both were left slightly askew.

The M[illegible]e Interior reported that the village of Salamanca, north of Santiago, was hard hit, with numerous buildings, including the hospital, destroyed. The National Telegraph News Agency said many houses were wrecked at Illapel, with perhaps half of them uninhabitable.

Government officials flying in a relief plane to Serena, however, said they did not notice any great damage at either town.

REGISTERED AT OBSERVATORY HERE

The Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, Saanich, recorded the tremors. At 9:21.01, P.D.T., the Island seismographs registered the beginning of a series of shocks. The tremors continued until 10:30 a.m., when Saanich observers made their calculations.

The seismographs showed the quakes to be about 6,500 miles distant. Dr. K. O. Wright reports the maximum intensity at 9:57:30.

Germans Claim 2,000 Dead in American Raid

Asserts as Many More Injured or Missing

NEW YORK, April 6 (AP).—The Berlin radio claimed tonight that more than 2,000 persons were killed in the American bombing of Antwerp on Monday and that nearly that many more were injured or are still missing.

The broadcast, recorded in New York by The Associated Press, presented "official" figures in the casualties as 2,007 killed, 803 wounded and 1,303 missing.

The Swiss radio, quoting a Berlin dispatch in a broadcast recorded by C.B.S., said the main building of the Erla airplane plant "was completely destroyed" by the explosives which rained from the big United States bombers.

The Erla plant, the objective of the raiders, manufactured single-engine German fighter planes, the broadcast said.

"Hundreds of houses were completely destroyed or heavily damaged," the broadcast continued. "About 700 civilians are at present in hospitals."

The broadcast quoted an official spokesman of the German High Command as saying "the ruthlessness of air war is a development for which England alone is to be blamed."

The spokesman claimed British airmen first dropped bombs on open German towns in the Summer of 1940, and that the German air force waited weeks and months before it retaliated.

VANIER IN LONDON

LONDON, April 6 (CP).—Major-General George P. Vanier, Canada's first Minister to the Free Governments of Nazi-oppressed European countries, arrived in London tonight after a railway journey from a west country airport at which he ended a Clipper flight over the Atlantic. The fifty-five-year-old emissary traveled alone.

Assault Preceded by Most Crushing Aerial Blows of African Campaign

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, April 6 (AP).—Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery's British Eighth Army, striking out after aerial preparations more crushing than those preceding the victorious attacks on the Alamein and Mareth Lines, opened a new offensive at dawn today against Marshal Rommel's improvised defences at the Wadi El Akarit.

The first objectives were taken by storm and the mighty push to drive the Axis finally out of Africa continued throughout the day and into the night.

The wadi is some sixty miles south of Sfax, where Rommel may elect to make one of his last stands in Tunisia.

The Allied communique announcing the resumption of the Eighth Army's offensive said:

"The Eighth Army attacked the Akarit position at 4:30 a.m. The first objectives have been captured, and the attack is proceeding according to plan."

ADVANCED WITH CLOCKWORK PRECISION

With clockwork precision, General Montgomery's fighting men moved forward against the entrenched German machine gun and infantry positions at 4:30 a.m. after a fierce bombardment through the night by concentrated British artillery.

At bayonet point British troops smashed into outlying enemy posts and, with veteran tank columns in support, the battle to drive Rommel into the narrow confines of the Tunis-Bizerte bridgehead in Northern Tunisia continued.

General Montgomery, the master of Rommel in every encounter of the last eight months, carefully set the stage for this newest drive by a one-week pause, about twenty miles north of Gabes, to bring up his troops and supplies.

The Wadi el Akarit, winding across the desert coastal plain from the sea to the rugged hills some forty miles westward, was a naturally strong position, but it could not compare with the deep fortifications of the Mareth Line, which General Montgomery outflanked and cracked through barely nine days ago.

The communique failed to mention air action in connection with the Eighth Army's new attack, but there was every reason to suppose co-ordinated Allied fighters, fighter-bombers and bombers from bases both to the south and west of the battle area pitched in to hammer Rommel's exposed points.

In growing peril were Rommel's elite infantry and panzer companies, which have been pocketed the last few days in the El Guetar area.

From Europe Day by Day—

THE TIMES, London

News and Comment on International Events selected from The Times daily and published in The Daily Colonist by special arrangement with The Vancouver Daily Province.

(Copyright, 1943, by Southam Co.)

LONDON, April 6. — Surveying present war prospects, The Times editorially compares the present phase with that early in 1918, pointing out, however, that six months before the close of the first Great War the submarine menace had been overcome, while today it is far from beaten.

Moreover, in 1918 the Allies had huge forces already fighting in Western Europe, whereas today they have still to win a footing on the Continent. Such footing can be established only by the most difficult type of tactical operation.

On the other hand, the Soviet Union absorbs two-thirds of Germany's land forces and half her air forces. It is this all-important factor which governs the prospects for final victory and creates opportunities for Russia's Allies otherwise unimaginable.

Until the Tunisian campaign has been wiped off the slate, adds The Times, it must occupy resources urgently needed elsewhere. By a series of delaying actions the Germans have put off the decision in North Africa until the eve of the Summer campaigning season in Russia, hoping that the Red Army's superiority in Winter warfare will then be neutralized.

But it is on the U-boat campaign that Hitler is now relying mainly for ultimate victory. Anti-submarine warfare conditions every phase of Anglo-American activity, and if new tonnage were not overtaking sinkings the outlook for the United Nations would be bleak indeed.

Nevertheless, losses still can dislocate both plans and supplies.

As for Japan, despite all her conquests, she seems, says The Times, to be coming to the end of her offensive tether.

Continuing the day and night air offensive over Western Europe, the Royal Air Force has blitzed the German naval base at Kiel more heavily than ever before. Indeed, the raid, says the aeronautical correspondent of The Times, was the heaviest of the war to date, and great fires were left burning all over the harbor area.

The Soviet offensive in Kuban threatens Novorossisk, according to The Times' Stockholm correspondent. The Russians for months past have held the cement works to the east of Novorossisk, and landed ma-

Merrymakers Run Risk of Heavy Fine

VANCOUVER, April 6 (CP).—Canadians who spend money merrymaking across the international boundary are committing an offence punishable by a fine up to $5,000 and imprisonment up to two years, Harry Priestman, superintendent in British Columbia for the Foreign Exchange Board, said today.

He was commenting on reports 550 Canadians thronged to Point Roberts, Wash., last Saturday, because unlimited supplies of beer were available at a tavern there.

"Persons going out of Canada in a private vehicle or on foot are allowed to take an amount not over $5," Priestman said, "but this whole arrangement was made to assist bona fide travelers . . . If chiselers come along and spoil common sense plans we have worked out, naturally we are not going to sit idly by."

Workers in Paper Mills On Strike

Others Likely To Walk Out

CHICOUTIMI, Que., April 6 (CP).—Strikes involving approximately 225 men broke out late tonight in newsprint and paper mills operated by Price Bros. & Company, Ltd., at the nearby towns of Jonquiere and Riverbend, with indications that the walkouts would spread within a few hours to company newsprint mills at Dolbeau and Kenogami.

Representatives for the striking workmen said they had walked out because the company had failed to accede to their demands that a collective bargaining contract signed in 1940 through the International Brotherhood of Paper Workers (A.F. of L.) be canceled and the union itself no longer be considered as representing them.

The spokesmen added that they were seeking recognition of the National Catholic Syndicate as their union. Neither wages nor working conditions are involved in the dispute.

Further strike action was expected at the Price Bros. mills at Kenogami and Dolbeau, where 750 men are employed at each mill in the production of newsprint. The Riverbend mill also produces newsprint, while the Jonquiere mill is devoted to the manufacture of commercial paper.

NEW CRUISER WRECKED

CAIRO, April 6 (AP).—A new Italian cruiser which had been at sea less than eight hours had its bow blown off by an Allied submarine, it was disclosed today with the announcement of the award of a Distinguished Flying Cross to Pilot Officer L. E. Philpotts, of Saint John, N.B. Philpott's air reconnaissance led the Allied submarine to the attack, Middle East Headquarters announced.

Noted Canadian Air Ace Missing in Mediterranean

Sqdn. Ldr. Malcolm J. MacLeod, Former Halifax and Toronto Canadian Press Man, Won Fame

HALIFAX, April 6 (CP).—Sqdn. Ldr. Malcolm J. MacLeod, a native Nova Scotia newspaperman, who rose to command of the top-scoring fighter squadron in the R.A.F., has been reported missing in the Mediterranean theatre.

Relatives of the twenty-five-year-old flyer, a former staff writer of The Canadian Press, have been advised he has been missing for several weeks. The scene of his disappearance cannot be disclosed, but it was one of the most action-filled areas of the war.

Whether Squadron Leader MacLeod was still in command of the crack R.A.F. unit at the time of his disappearance was not known here. It was disclosed last February that he had been assigned to head this Spitfire squadron, then at Malta.

At that time, the squadron was credited officially with destroying just under 300 enemy planes, plus another 100 probable. More than 180 of these had been shot down over Malta.

NEVER MENTIONED HIS OWN SCORE

MacLeod, in letters to relatives, never said anything about his personal score. He had been flying out of Malta for only a few months before becoming the second Canadian member of the R.C.A.F. to command an R.A.F. fighter squadron in this war.

His proud squadron at one time or another had numbered scores of the R.A.F.'s top fighter celebrities in its ranks. Among these was F.O. George (Buzz) Beurling, of Verdun, Que., Canada's leading ace. MacLeod, a native of Pictou, N.S., joined The Canadian Press here in 1937. He worked here and at The Canadian Press Toronto bureau, taking flying lessons on the side. At war's start, he was a qualified pilot and he immediately joined the R.C.A.F.

After some months of instructional duty on this side, he finally obtained a transfer to Britain, piloting a bomber across the Atlantic to get there. He quickly made his way to the cockpit of a Spitfire, and engaged in numerous fighter operations out of Britain before being transferred to Malta late last year.

Mighty Push

defending the angular wedge of territory which separated the American Second Corps of Lieut.-General George S. Patton, from the British Eighth Army on the coast.

Each yard that British forces punched forward through the Akarit defences outflanked that much more these forces disposed along the American sector to the southwest.

General Montgomery's battle array of divisions was not announced. Scrupulously methodical in his preparations, General Montgomery nevertheless achieved an amazingly speedy build up for his new thrust.

Even before the new drive was announced officially, some reports indicated a fresh attack had been loosed against the Axis positions north of Gabes. Air activity had grown extremely heavy.

With opening of the new drive General Patton's battle-hardened American infantry and armor stand on Rommel's extended right flank and the enemy obviously can expect them to exert heavy pressure as the Eighth Army's assaults progress.

The chief passes to the coast where the Americans fought hot engagements recently, are in the areas of El Guetar, Maknassy and Fondouk.

Maknassy and Fondouk lie to the northwest of the Akarit line, while El Guetar Pass is to the west.

GERMAN GUNS IN CONCRETE

Against German guns employed in concrete and commanding the dominant hills in an area belted with wide minefields, the Americans have made painfully slow advances recently. Success by General Montgomery, however, would compel the enemy to abandon these defences just as those of the Mareth Line finally were abandoned when the New Zealanders under Lieut.-General Sir Bernard C. Freyberg struck deep into the desert and around Rommel's flank at El Hamma.

Northward of the Americans stand the French in the Ousseltia Valley, probing the enemy strong points on the high wooded hills which separate the valley from the coastal plain.

Even farther north is the British First Army menacing the Tunis-Bizerte bridgehead itself from such positions as Medjez el Bab and on the road to Mateur.

The final extremity of the Allied front—Cape Serrat—is in the hands of French troops, but the difficult terrain of the northern coast makes it improbable they will pace the Allied forces in the march into the bridgehead.

General Montgomery's announced goal has been Tunis, Sfax, however, would be a valuable immediate prize in his latest attack.

LITTLE CHANCE OF MAKING STAND

Between Sfax and Sousse, on a fertile plain criss-crossed with mud walls protecting rich farms and orchards, military observers could see little chance of Rommel making a new big stand.

North of Sousse, however, where mountains form an almost solid barrier, the Allied arms eventually may be expected to meet a decisive test.

The Allied armies, air forces and navies are united by one objective—to crush the enemy before a "Dunkerque" evacuation can be carried out.

Yesterday's bag of enemy aircraft shot down was placed tonight at fifty-two, the greatest number ever downed in one day in the African campaign. And an unknown number of the 200 Axis planes splattered with bombs when found on the ground on Sicilian airports undoubtedly were destroyed as well.

To the previously announced toll of forty-eight planes shot down during the day were added four blasted out of the sky shortly after dusk last night by R.A.F. Hurricane pilots who attacked a quartette of tri-motored Italian torpedo planes attempting to sink Allied shipping off the Algerian coast.

The biggest event of the day was the double-barrelled operation in which American medium bombers inflicted heavy damage on an enemy convoy in the Straits of Sicily, and whose fighter escort, on the way home from the raid, intercepted a big German transport plane formation protected by Stukas and fighters and shot down thirty-one in all.

Allied losses in this double action were not specifically announced, but total losses for the day were given as twelve planes. Enemy broadcasts claimed eighteen Allied plans were downed in the attack on the air convoy.

APPARENTLY CARRIED GAS FOR ROMMEL

The German transport planes apparently were carrying gasoline for Rommel's tanks and the Tunisian air force, for the pilots saw them explode as they hit the water.

Dispatches disclosed that American heavy bombers from the Western Desert returned to the southern Italian port of Naples at dusk on Sunday to rekindle fires set earlier that day by nearly 100 heavy bombers which attacked from French African bases.

It was during an attack on a convoy that medium bombers hit and blew up an enemy destroyer. Direct hits were scored on other vessels, which were left burning.

While the attack was proceeding, the escorting fighters spotted "large formations of transport aircraft with strong fighter escort. During the ensuing combat, eighteen of these transports and thirteen other enemy aircraft were destroyed," the communique said. Six of the downed escorts were dive bombers and seven were fighters. The aerial supply armada was encountered twenty-five miles north of Tunisia and the running battle lasted twenty-five minutes.

The Italians reported "considerable damage" from Allied raids on Marsala, Palmero, Trapani and Porto Empedocle. Thirty-four persons in all were reported killed and 117 injured at the four places.

Regarding land operations, the communique said: "There were no major developments throughout Tunisia yesterday, but our patrols were active in all sectors."

The British Eighth Army is drawn up against an Axis defence line in the Gabes Gap, twenty miles north of that southern port of Tunisia. The American Second Army Corps is deployed in the hills, forty miles to the west in positions east of Maknassy and El Guetar. American and French units farther north are menacing Faid Pass on the road to Sfax, and Kairouan not far from Sousse.

BRITISH FIRST ARMY APPROACHES BIZERTE

The British First Army in the north is on the Mediterranean beyond Serrat, approaching Bizerte, and strung out in a hilly arc to positions east of Medjez-el-Bab, thirty-five miles southwest of Tunis.

Axis radio propaganda had shown increasing nervousness about these Allied land dispositions, reporting at various times recently that nearly all had been reinforced and were about to spring major offensives.

Reuter's News Agency, in a dispatch from North Africa, said Rommel was withdrawing his armor from the Gabes Gap without waiting for the opening of a new Eighth Army assault.

One of the largest concentrations of grounded aircraft were found by Mitchell bombers, escorted by Lightnings, on the Borizo airfield in Sicily. Nearly 100 multi-motored transports and bombers were dispersed on the field. Four attacking Messerschmitt 109's and 200's were shot down by the bombers and two more by fighters.

The Flying Fortresses hit the Boca di Salco and Milo airfields in Sicily in force. Six or seven fires were set at Boca di Salco and more than half the 100 planes on the field were smothered with bomb bursts, pilots said. Three enemy fighters were shot down.

At Milo, the Allied pilots said they destroyed thirty grounded aircraft as well as hangars.

Cactus Screen for Italian Gunners in Tunisia

With a thick clump of cactus as camouflage, Italian gunners man a light field gun somewhere in Southern Tunisia as they prepare to resist the advance of the British Eighth Army. The picture was supposed to have been made by an Italian army cameraman just before General Montgomery opened his assault on the Mareth Line. Since then the gunners' position has been overrun—or the gunners have retired to new positions, as the Rome radio prefers to announce.

Publishes Plan

"rich brother" in talking over currency stabilization with its United Nations associates.

He described the Treasury plan as an extension and strengthening of the tripartite agreement among Great Britain, the United States and France, and said that in his opinion at least two-thirds of the invited nations would have to participate to make it effective. "Otherwise it wouldn't be worth while," he said.

Morgenthau said he would like to see a programme of postwar currency stabilization put into effect "as soon as possible," because of its effect on neutral nations and those now under Axis domination.

"If they know that we are not going to return to the chaotic conditions of the last postwar era, they will know they have something to fight for," he said.

The Secretary said the Treasury proposals do not include an international bank, but do in effect provide for a dual currency system, under which currencies for the purpose of world trade would be on a gold basis, while for domestic purposes they could be valued on whatever basis the individual nation desired.

While the contribution of the United States to the stabilization fund would be "substantial," Morgenthau said, it would be "in our selfish interest."

"We are the richest nation in gold," he said. "We will be one of the few nations in a position to export after the war. If this fund is ready when hostilities cease the governments participating will, in effect, act as insurance agents for their exporters and importers. Private enterprise will have all the advantages, without the risk of fluctuating foreign exchange."

ENDED WHEN NOT USEFUL

Morgenthau said the stabilization fund would not be an artificial device but a matter of the various governments' stepping in to tide trade over the immediate postwar era. When the fund is no longer useful, he said, it can be terminated.

The Treasury proposals call for each participating country to be assigned a quota contribution to make up the $5,000,000,000 capital of the stabilization fund. The quotas would be determined under a formula taking into consideration a country's holdings of gold and foreign exchange, the magnitude of the fluctuations in its balance of international payments and its national income.

A suggested distribution of voting power on the governing board, in which each country would have a representative and an alternate, called for each country to have 100 votes plus one vote for the equivalent of each $1,000,000 of its capital quota.

The purposes of the fund as outlined in the draft proposals are to stabilize the value of currencies by fixing rates at which it will buy and sell member currencies. Changes in exchange rates could be made only with the approval of the fund and only to meet an extreme situation. This is designed to prevent competitive currency depreciation among countries.

With these provisions, the need for continuance of exchange control by individual countries might be almost entirely removed. No member country could adopt a new exchange control measure except to curb undesirable capital movements and then only with the consent of the fund.

A fund would be given power to buy and sell gold, currencies and, with their approval, securities of member countries. The fund could also borrow local currency with the approval of the governments concerned.

USED AS DEVICE OF BOOKKEEPING

As previously disclosed, the accounts of the fund would be kept in a new international monetary unit called "unitas." This would have a value of $10 in gold and would be merely a bookkeeping device.

While no provision has been made for admitting the Axis nations to membership, Morgenthau said the "door is not closed" to them, but that it would be up to Congress to decide if and when they could qualify for membership.

Also missing from the list of invited members was France.

President Roosevelt was asked at his press conference today whether there was any connection between Morgenthau's "gold plan and the expiration of your gold powers." Mr. Roosevelt said he did not know his gold powers were expiring soon, but he thought Congress might approve a relatively short extension.

President Roosevelt cut the gold content of the United States dollar to about 59 per cent of its former weight with the purpose of raising prices during the 1933 depression. The law under which he acted was extended in 1941 for two more years. Unless Congress acts by June 30 the dollar bill will be frozen at its present value and $2,000,000,000 in the Treasury's stabilization fund will go into the Treasury's general fund.

Morgenthau appeared today before a closed session of the House of Representatives' foreign affairs, banking and coinage committees, after conferring yesterday with similar committees from the Senate.

Representative Charles Dewey (Rep., Ill.) said he proposed at today's meeting a plan to break down international cartels and open world trade. He said this could be done by the United States pledging gold to an international bank while other countries contributed equivalents of critical materials.

"Such a bank could control the prices of critical materials, such as quinine, chromium and bauxite," Dewey told reporters later. "This would prevent production controls by cartels and open up international trade."

Paint Dries in Four Minutes

For protection against the elements, tanks are given a coat of paint before shipment overseas. Here you see one at the Chester, Pa., tank depot, army ordnance department. Ordinarily it would take some twenty-four hours for the paint to dry. But in this light tunnel, under the action of infra-red rays, the tank is dried in four minutes. The operator of the juggernaut does not have to leave his seat.

Revised Saanich Budget Provides Large Reduction

A revised budget was passed by the Saanich Municipal Council last night calling for a tax levy of $303,887.78, which is lower by $19,483 than the figure approved previously.

Changes were made by Wilfred A. Greene, municipal clerk, who returned to his post after five months' leave of absence to work in Ottawa. Total estimated expenses, including the tax levy, are now $599,503.51, instead of $622,107.88.

The council deadlocked for the second time, however, on the mill rate. Councillors L. C. Hagan, John Oliver, George Austin, and J. L. Hobbs voted in favor of a rate of thirty mills, based on 55 per cent taxable improvements, while Councillors George A. Rudd, T. F. Alexander, and K. W. Richmond supported a thirty-two mill rate on 50 per cent improvements. It will be fixed later.

Wilfred A. Greene, on leave of absence from the municipality since last November, was reappointed as clerk at the Saanich Council meeting last night, and A. D. Corker, acting clerk, was reappointed as assistant clerk.

On his return from Ottawa, where he had been giving his assistance to the rehabilitation branch of the Department of Pensions and National Health, Mr. Greene said that 77,000 members of the forces already have been discharged, and that 4,000 have been assisted through training provided.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

HOSPITAL TREATMENT FOR EARLY MENTAL AILMENTS

There are ailments in which the patient recovers more rapidly in hospital than in the home and others in which the home surroundings are best suited for rapid recovery. This means in some cases that there is something about the change to hospital life from home life that begets contentment and relaxation, and in other cases the "naturalness" of the home life reduces feelings of fear, anxiety or misgivings about outcome of ailment.

What about slight mental ailments?

At first thought it would seem that a patient suffering with mental depression, obsessions, anxiety, should recover more rapidly amid home surroundings. On second thought, however, the very nature of the home life with its deadly daily routine, quiet or noisy, the over-anxiety of the family about the patient, or, on the other hand, the feeling that there is nothing wrong with him (or her) and that kindness would be a mistake, interferes with recovery.

Trying to prevent neighbors knowing or guessing that the patient is a "mental" case also puts a strain on family and patient.

Drs. D. M. Hamilton and J. H. Wall, in The American Journal of Psychiatry, report the results in the treatment of 100 patients in hospital instead of the home. Treatment was given at the Westchester division of the New York Hospital.

As with the majority of this type of mental ailments most of these patients were above the average in intelligence, the majority had graduated from college and some were engaged in professions. The outstanding symptoms in the order in which they occurred were tenseness, depression, anxiety, obsessions and compulsions, hypochondriasis (persisting in believing he has ailments despite evidence that he has not), weakness, and fear of insanity.

The hospital treatment consisted mainly of interviews with the patient and supervision of his daily activities to fit his needs and abilities. The average length of hospital stay was eight and one-half months. A follow-up study, four to fourteen years after this hospital treatment, showed forty-six completely recovered, five much improved, seventeen improved, making a total of sixty-eight of the 100 who had benefitted by the treatment. These were not insane patients, but patients who were not properly balanced. The hospital stay, in which they could be studied quietly and thoroughly, gave gratifying results.

He said it was expected that train service could be resumed in about twenty-four hours.

Production of Lancasters May Be Ahead of Schedule

Howe Answers Fears of C.C.F. Member—Gillis Chided for Remarks on Churchill

OTTAWA, April 6 (CP).—Production of Lancaster bombers at the Victory Aircraft plant in Malton, Ont., may be three weeks ahead of schedule, Munitions Minister Howe said in the House of Commons tonight.

He was replying to charges of J. W. Noseworthy (C.C.F., York South) that skilled men were being called from the Malton plant for military service, and that the production schedule was thereby likely to be delayed six or eight weeks.

Virtually the entire day's sitting was devoted to a debate on labor matters precipitated early this afternoon by Angus MacInnis (C.C.F., Vancouver East) on a motion to go into committee of the whole.

There was no amendment and the discussion ended shortly before 11 o'clock, when the committee resumed consideration of budget resolutions.

Arthur Slaght (Lib., Parry Sound) said of the attacks made upon Mr. Justice C. P. McTague, chairman of the National War Labor Board, by previous speakers today that he had hoped "that kind of guerrilla warfare" was a thing of the past. It was an attempt to "sow the seeds of suspicion and disrepute" on a distinguished jurist who was giving his country great service in the present emergency.

He read excerpts from a speech in Montreal Monday by Mr. Justice McTague, excerpts which he said critics of the speech had disregarded. These had declared Mr. Justice McTague a believer in collective bargaining and of workers belonging to the union of their choice. The speech was "a splendid charter" of relations between labor and industry.

READS EXCERPTS OF GILLIS' SPEECH

When he was interrupted by Clarence Gillis (C.C.F., Cape Breton South), Mr. Slaght read extracts from reports of a speech Mr. Gillis made in a speech in Hamilton recently.

Mr. Gillis was quoted as saying that when the war is over, "we will have to get rid of the Churchills to attain our ideals," Mr. Slaght said.

"That is the gentleman who wants to castigate the chairman of the National War Labor Board for the splendid speech he made yesterday."

Mr. Gillis said he would not deny that he made such statement, and that when the opportunity arose he would "reiterate" what he said, and explain it.

C. E. Johnston (N.D., Bow River) said he believed most all strikes were caused by Government policy. The Federal authorities should examine labor conditions and see labor had no reason for complaint about conditions of work and labor.

Munitions Minister Howe said the Valentine tank production at Angus Shops at Montreal was outmoded and production was being discontinued. Mr. Johnston said he had called the tank out of date last Summer but others had not agreed with him.

Men were being laid off not only in the Montreal Angus shops and the Vancouver shipyards but all over the country, and this condition caused concern.

VOTE TO STRIKE

QUEBEC, April 6 (CP)—Workers in a shipyard here were reported today by union officials to have voted 1,663 to nine to strike if their employers refuse to consent to appointment of an arbitration committee to adjust wage rates and other matters. Meanwhile, workers in two other Quebec district yards held similar votes today, with the result to be made known later.

ROOSEVELT SILENT

WASHINGTON, April 6 (AP)—General Dwight D. Eisenhower's request to General Charles de Gaulle to defer a visit to North Africa had not been reported officially to President Roosevelt today and the Chief Executive declined to comment on it. De Gaulle had planned to consult with General Henri Giraud, but London dispatches said Eisenhower had asked him to wait, for military reasons.

Report British Agents Landed In Netherlands

LONDON, April 6 (AP).—Dutch circles here declared today that the people of the Netherlands are becoming increasingly optimistic over the outcome of the war and disclosed that the country is full of reports that "scores of British agents" have been landed and are making secret preparations for an Allied invasion.

These sources, whose names cannot be disclosed, said that the wave of optimism sweeping the country is being demonstrated by new outbreaks of sabotage and anti-Nazi attacks.

The British were said to have been landing parties of two and three persons during the past six weeks.

There is growing fear in Bulgaria that King Boris had been forced by Hitler to bring the country into more active collaboration with Germany, even to the extent of war. Bulgars also fear Turkish attacks, says the Istanbul correspondent of The Times, despite Prime Minister Churchill's and the Turkish Foreign Minister's statements. Popular feeling among Bulgarians is strongly against any further aid to Germany, and sabotage, as well as assassination of German agents, show how widespread is this trend. In Istanbul, it is reported, Boris' interview with Hitler was stormy.

There is growing irritation in Sweden at the disclosure that German troops made Sweden a regular highway, both for going and returning leave. Britain has protested against this breach of neutrality, and many Swedes, knowing Nazi treatment of Norwegians, are also strongly objecting.

The Nazis have even procured release of their aircraft after forced landings, while British pilots and machines are interned.

The Swedish Foreign Office, however, denies any such permission had been given the Nazis.

Thirty Berlin Factories Hit

Offices, Rail Shops Smashed, Photos Show

LONDON, April 7 (Wednesday) (CP)—Thirty Berlin factories, large blocks of centrally located business offices and railway repair shops in the Templehof freight yards were destroyed or badly damaged in the R.A.F. raid on the German capital on March 1, the Air Ministry announced today.

The official statement said reconnaissance photographs showed vast destruction after the raid, regarded as one of the "most successful" ever made on Berlin. The capital was twice pounded heavily later in the month.

R.A.F. experts who analyzed the pictures said destruction was heaviest in the districts west and southwest of the centre of Berlin.

Two big raids on factories producing roller bearings, telephone equipment, fire control apparatus and precision instruments caused heavy damage, the ministry said.

Other destruction reported included:

A wing of the main building of a chemical plant was demolished, partly by a direct hit. Two sheds were destroyed.

One coachwork factory was ruined over an area of 85,000 square feet. Five workshops of another coach factory were destroyed by fire. Some 30,000 square feet of the top story of a large automobile engineering building were burned out.

SEATTLE, April 6 (CP). — John Boettiger has joined the United States Army, with the rank of captain, and has been given a leave of absence from his duties as publisher of The Post-Intelligencer, it was announced tonight by The Post-Intelligencer.

Boettiger has received orders to report on April 13 to the Army School for Military Government at Charlottesville, Va., and will leave Seattle the end of this week.

He said he hoped to be ordered into foreign service.

William Randolph Hearst, president of Hearst Publications, announced that the present policies of The Post-Intelligencer would continue. He appointed as acting publisher Charles B. Mrs. Anna Roosevelt Boettiger will continue as associate editor and will be given additional editorial responsibility.

up reserves and again attacked our positions.

"At a cost of heavy losses the Germans succeeded in one sector in pressing our troops back somewhat. Towards the end of the day, however, our troops by counter-attack re-established the situation."

The communique said that more than a company of German infantry was wiped out in this operation.

"On the western front," the communique said, "our troops consolidated positions they had captured and conducted reconnaissance." Two hundred Germans were killed here in infantry and artillery action, Moscow said.

"Fierce street fighting" led to the capture of the populated place in the Caucasus, where the Germans are backed up against the Black Sea and the former Russian naval base of Novorossisk. More than 100 Germans were reported killed.

The eastern front in general remained relatively quiet. The Soviet noon communique reported that sixty German firepoints were silenced by Russian guns at a big fortified centre in the Western Caucasus.

We have always looked forward to a "better world."

It has been easy to sit around and think up "better worlds."

But while we were sitting around, a gang of evil men plunged us into a worse one, instead.

They caught us "taking it easy."

Now we have to go about it the hard way.

Now we know that "better worlds" have to be worked for—tirelessly.

They have to be fought for—courageously.

They have to be built—and solidly.

We have always believed that, apart from a few criminals, the great mass of mankind wanted a world in which Goodness, Truth and Justice could flourish.

Now we know that whole nations are fighting to maintain a reign of terror, in which Evil and Lies and Brutality are the ruling forces.

They want that kind of world.

They want a world in which Faith, Hope and Love are blacked out.

They want a world in which Liberty, Equality and Fraternity are banished.

We have always believed that such things as Love and Beauty and Brotherhood could never be bought.

But now we know they must be bought and paid for. They are not just words.

There are such things.

And we must guard them, as we would our most priceless possessions, against a ruthless, plundering enemy.

FINANCING THE WAR

No more succinct estimate of the last Federal Budget and the problem of war finance in the country was given in the House of Commons than that by Mr. H. R. Jackman (Rosedale), and though he is a Progressive Conservative what he had to say was in no spirit of criticism. On the contrary, he expressed appreciation to the full of the difficulties facing the Minister of Finance in these times. The budget calls for an expenditure of $5,500,000,000. The gross revenue to be collected in the current fiscal year is estimated at $2,601,000,000, leaving $2,899,000,000 to be raised by loans. What the budget represents is an expenditure of $487 for each man, woman and child in the country. Of that amount $230 per capita will be raised by taxation. The rest must be borrowed.

Mr. Jackman pointed out that the national income has risen from $4,750,000,000 before the war to approximately $9,000,000,000. While the increase, therefore, has been $4,250,000,000, the total tax revenue to be raised this year is only about 60 per cent of that increase. From this Mr. Jackman said that "it would appear on the surface that the Minister of Finance is not facing such a difficult job when we consider that the increase in the national income greatly exceeds the total taxation which is to be collected at the present time." He admits, however, that the matter is not as simple as that. He asks where the national income has gone. The country should know. "It would be most interesting," he said, "if we could find out what is the total dollar value of production in this country at the present time. How much of this total production then goes for war purposes, and how much is left for civilian consumption?" Mr. Jackman continued:

"Last year we spent $4,470,000,000 and collected in revenue only $2,209,000,000, with a resulting increase in our direct debt of $2,261,000,000. We increased our debt by more than we collected in revenue. The State cannot, any more than the individual can, continue to live beyond its income. At some time a halt must be called. Much of this $2,261,000,000 which we spent, but did not tax from our people, was provided by the people through loans, and to some extent through leaning on the Bank of Canada and on the chartered banks; but, as the Minister of Finance has said, this process of leaning on the banks is a most unhealthy one and one which is fraught with danger to our country. In effect the people who bought the war loans and the war savings certificates subjected themselves to an extra tax. . . . These people who have lent their money to the Government so that the war effort could be carried on want it back with the purchasing power that it had when they lent their money to the Government. That is the reason why we must all fight inflation. With millions of our citizens subscribing to the Victory Loans, we all have a stake in the financial integrity of this country, and we must all fight rising prices and maintain the soundness of our currency."

Mr. Jackman expressed the belief that to prevent such heavy increases in the National Debt there should have been an increase in the sales tax and so that that would work in an equitable way the minimum exemptions of $600 for a single person and $1,200 for a married person (in relation to income tax) could have been increased. He admitted that raising income taxes any higher would hamper war tax production. Then he dealt with the Rumi Plan. Instead of adopting this in its entirety the Minister of Finance adopted a "half-way" plan. Here is what Mr. Jackman said: "The Minister, in place of going the full way and forgiving that part of the taxation still owing, drew the line at 50 per cent, whereas a great many people in Canada, perhaps the majority, still owe approximately 60 per cent rather than 50 per cent. A very great hardship is being imposed upon these people, because not only do they have 95 per cent of their full taxes deducted from their current pay cheques, but in addition they owe 5 and 10 per cent and in some cases considerably more of last year's taxes, and their cash position has become a real hardship. Under the plan recommended by the Government half of last year's taxes are no longer a debt; but, as I have said, the amount which will be collected by the Government without any increase in rate will be $105,000,000 more than last year, and a great part of this increase will be on account of the fact that people still owe money on last year's taxes, even though 50 per cent of them may be forgiven. I think the minister might have been well advised to set the figure at 60 per cent rather than 50 per cent as far as forgiveness of last year's taxes was concerned."

In concluding an exceptionally able summary of the budget, of which only some sketchy outlines have been alluded to, Mr. Jackman said: "The membership of this House should also ask what will be the effect on the incentive to save if the special taxation against investment income is carried too far. What will be the reaction of people who have lived thriftily through the years and have built up an investment income? Putting a premium upon a spendthrift and a penalty upon a thrifty man will have only one inevitable result, which will be in complete opposition to the minister's appeal to buy Victory Bonds. . . . On the one hand the minister pleads with the people to save, while on the other hand he shows them that they are very foolish to save. In the meantime he finances nearly half of the war cost out of savings. Some of it was saved in the past. Physically we all pay for the war as we go, but financially the burden is distributed, perhaps with some recognition of ability to bear, but with little recognition of the sacrifices made in the past, or the incentive or risk shown or undertaken by those who have been the creative spirit behind our industrial economy."

SHIP VERSUS PLANE

A movement on the part of British shipowners to acquire airline charters is a logical step, and one that takes a realistic view of the often argued, but never settled, debate of the ship versus the airplane as a medium of public travel. The sane view is that both sea and air services after this war will be complementary and co-operative, rather than conflicting. There will be business for both.

At the same time, in view of the annihilation of time by air travel, and the substitution of smooth crossings for rough ones, the ship cannot once enjoyed. There is good reason to suppose that a proportion of all passenger travel will go aloft on oceanic and inter-continental flights. What the railways suffered at the hands of the automobile is being repeated between the ship and the airplane, with some new factors thrown in.

Chief among those factors is time. People will not spend five to seven days in crossing the ocean if they can do so more comfortably in seven to ten hours. Mails and express matter are in the same position. What air traffic has accomplished on land it will repeat over the ocean. At the same time, cheap passenger transport, bulk cargoes and miscellaneous freight will likely remain on surface vessels at sea. If this is so, the development of sea-air lines is an entirely logical one, a step in meeting conditions that are coming.

What must be remembered is that the modern airplane is still virtually in rompers, while the ship has been developed to the limits of economic usefulness. One more decade of air design may change all present day conceptions of the size and performance of ships that fly; for designers are now knocking at the door of the big plane, with all that implies.

SECURING A RESULT

Canada's two major rail systems last year met the strain of war days in a manner that left little to be desired. The result was a strong and genuine contribution to the country's war effort. It included the hauling of millions of tons of munitions, materials and food for the armed services; and the carrying of many thousands of men in uniform, besides the ordinary traffic necessitated by civilian needs. To the men and women who made that service possible this country owes a sincere debt of gratitude.

It is with some pride that the two rail systems, the Canadian Pacific and the Canadian National, are now carrying the record of that achievement to the public in the form of a joint message. Many individuals had a part in it: dispatchers and train crews, roundhouse and workshop shifts, yardmen and switchhands, passenger and freight staffs, telegraphers and expressmen. The two railways, combined, sent 22,000 men to the armed forces, where their technical skill has been invaluable.

Canada is a large country. Track mileage on the two systems runs into many thousands of miles. The track-walker, section boss and repair gangs had their part in that result. So too had the shovel gangs in snowstorm and washout. For twenty-four hours in each day the service had to be provided, and at peak loads. Sometimes this is expressed in the dollars expended or returned, but there is room, too, to think of the individuals whose loyal co-operation made this result possible. Rail transportation was one of the best of Canada's achievements last year.

A FITTING TRIBUTE

The unveiling of three beautiful stained glass windows at St. John's Church on Sunday, in memory of the late Dr. J. S. Plaskett, B.A., D.Sc., F.R.A.S.C., F.R.S.C., F.R.S., was a fitting tribute to a great Canadian, one who became internationally known and respected for his achievements in the astronomical world. A still greater memorial, the Plaskett star, is known in every astrophysical observatory in the world.

The late Dr. Plaskett, a native of Oxford County, Ont., was closely bound up with Victoria for the most productive years of a distinguished life. He was the founder and designer of the great seventy-two-inch reflecting telescope at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory in Saanich; did outstanding work with that instrument, and carried his brains and initiative to a world-wide acquaintanceship in the observatories of the world.

A shy and modest man, the late Dr. Plaskett never failed in calls upon himself. The sphere of his influence is not bounded even today by three continents, although he has passed on. It is fitting that in Victoria, where he was so well-known and so universally popular, that a standing memorial will keep his memory green. Canada has had no finer son, and few of whom she could be more justly proud.

TO RUPERT BROOKE

Though we, a happy few,
Indubitably knew
That from the purple came
This poet of pure flame.

The world first saw his light
Flash on an evil night.
And heard his song from far
Above the drone of war.

Out of the primal dark
He leapt, like lyric lark,
Singing his aubade strain;
Then fell to earth again.

We garner all he gave,
And on his hero grave,
For love and honor strew,
Rosemary, myrtle, rue.

Son of the Morning, we
Had kept you thankfully,
But yours the asphodel.
Hail singer, and farewell!

—Eden Phillpotts.

FROM: "WHEN THE HOUNDS OF SPRING"

When the hounds of Spring are on Winter's traces,
The mother of months in meadow or plain
Fills the shadows and windy places
With lisp of leaves and ripple of rain;
And the brown bright nightingale amorous
Is half assuaged for Itylus,
For the Thracian ships and the foreign faces
The tongueless vigil, and all the pain.

For Winter's rains and ruins are over,
And all the season of snows and sins;
The days dividing lover and lover,
The light that loses, the night that wins;
And time remembered is grief forgotten,
And frosts are slain and flowers begotten,
And in green underwood and cover
Blossom by blossom the Spring begins.

—Algernon Charles Swinburne.

But can it be possible that crimes of a character so sanguinary can ever succeed? Are they set in too flagrant opposition to the more profound mysteries of human events, to the undefined, yet inviolable and ever active principles that govern the order of nature? Men may blind themselves for a time, but they cannot disturb the moral laws on which their existence reposes; these rule with a necessity as inevitable as that which regulates the course of the stars.—Leopold von Ranke.

By SANDHAM GRAVES

"Ye can have it!"

The words plainly enough were those of Shamus Macool, but who could picture the expression of disgust with which they were accompanied? Shamus entered the room now and let himself down in a chair, [illegible] of a mountain enjoying a private earthquake; one where the upheaval was over and the subsidence had set in.

"I can have what, Shamus?" I asked him.

"The postwar worruld, to be sure. I don't want anny av it if this is a sample. Ye can't get a drink av beer because the Prime Minister says ye shouldn't. Ye can't get a stick av wood because the controller can't control the fella who has to control the wan who brings in the wood. Ye can't get tay enough to satisfy a humming bird, an' they are about to put a third rate kind av poison in the wather. There are to be schools for adults, sich as me; an', no doubt, kindergartens for young spriggins sich as yerself. We're to be born by act av Parliamint, brought up on orders in council, an' buried by lave av the ould age pensions commissions—if we live, that is, to a dacent ould age. I don't want anny av it. Ye can have it all!"

"Oh, come now, Shamus, that is just a passing phase. Think about the planes, the new inventions, the expanding world . . ." I began, but was cut off.

"The expanding worruld is it? Bedad, it's gettin' smaller. Ye can't get away from an order in council nohow. It's ration books for this, an' where's yer identity card for that. If ye stay still, the postman brings ye the whole works. If ye move, ye have to tell somewhere. Ye mustn't lave your job, nor can ye fire annybody. Aven the dollars in your pocket aren't your own anny more, with all av the work an' worrit."

"But you want to beat the Hun, don't you?" I countered.

"Sure an' I do, but I doubt if we are goin' the smart way about it," Shamus shot back at me. "We ought mebbe to aind thim our controllers, an' orders in council, the information please bureau—an', yes, a sanitary inspector or two. That'd ball thim up. We could lick thim aisy if we dropped 7,852 orders in council on their heads. Mebbe we could aind thim the beer we are not goin' to drink, and put chlorine in it, too. That'd make thim mad. Whin a fighter looses his timper he's done for. I tell ye, bhoy, ye have to give people some kind av a worruld they will want to live in, not an antiseptic solution for their tay, or a formula out av a chemist's shop."

Shamus knocked out his pipe, and refilled it slowly. He was rumbling down deep inside with indignation. The blue eyes were troubled and stormy, like a blown sea with the wind fast over it. I knew there would be more, so I waited. Presently, Shamus resumed:

"The kind av a worruld I want, bhoy, is different entirely. It'd be the kind av a worruld where little children would play all day in the sun, stuffed so full of milk that they'd rattle whin they moved; where an intelligent bhoy would be given all av the schooling he could hold, an' as much more as he thought he could carry with him; where boys and girls would be sint wanst around the worruld, to have a look at it before they settled down; where the law would fight to preserve human rights, and politicians would break their necks to save money for the people; where each wan would be told that whither they were a liability or an asset to the worruld would depend on thimselves, after the initial shove. It'd be a worruld with fairies and leprechauns—an' there'd be a lot av tay in it," said Shamus, chuckling at the last thought.

"Give us time, Shamus," I told him. "It isn't so long since men hit women with clubs, and dragged them into caves; since men were hanged, and women were burned, for what they did, or did not, believe; since every road had its highwaymen, and every town its dungeon and a gibbet; since men were transported for life, or spirited away without trial; since women were openly sold into slavery, and children bound to a lifetime of drudgery; since . . ."

Shamus interjected:

"Ye read that!" he accused. "That niver came out av your head!"

"Aye, Shamus, I read it. I read it in the lives of a thousand men, who lived in twenty different centuries. I am certain that it is going out, and that something better than that is coming in," I told him.

"Will there be orders in council in it?" he asked suspiciously.

"I don't think so, in the sense that you mean. I think man is about to take back all of his freedoms, to nurse and to cherish them, and, above all, to watch them grow!"

Shamus looked at me in silence for a moment. Then he said softly:

"The fairies would come back thin, bhoy. Fairies are the laughter av God."

Calls Victoria A "Gracious City"

(From The London, Ont., Free Press)

If at any time we should happen to be among a group of judges selected to pick Canada's loveliest city we would unhesitatingly name Victoria, modestly of course, overlooking London. We have larger cities and more ambitious cities. Montreal and Quebec stand on historic sites. Ottawa is a city of unequaled vistas. Winnipeg is spacious with the wideness of the Prairies. Calgary is [illegible] River-like chaps around the thigh of a cowpuncher.

Edmonton is the Gate of the New North, Halifax and Saint John smell of the sea which gives them a cosmopolitan flavor. Vancouver hustles and smokes, and dries itself in between the rains, and guards the Western shore.

But Victoria alone of all our cities combines the romance of the sea, the restfulness of an old English county town, something of the military, and a great deal of the New World of the wide Pacific which washes its door and sweeps clear out to Japan and Malaya and India.

Victoria is a gracious city with a gracious climate. It is a green and fair city of sunshine and strong sea air. English gorse grows at Oak Bay, its playground, and clean roads run up North into the majestic stands of pine and fir. Victoria is our sea gate to the Pacific and may be destined for greater prominence in our foreign affairs, but it can never attain greater beauty than it has now.

From an article by Ervin Acel in The New York News: "Signs indicate that Spring may see an Allied campaign to open the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus Straits of Turkey to ships of the United Nations. This would create a junction between the Red Army in South Russia and Allied forces in North Africa, thus facilitating a co-ordinated offensive against the Axis in Southeast Europe. The Dardanelles and the Bosphorus connect the Mediterranean and Black Seas. Through them United Nations could ship supplies direct to the southern regions of Russia, where the greatest battles of the war are being fought. After the Axis is ousted from Tunisia the Allies may invade Greece and the Greek islands. Lately there have been many hints to prepare the Turkish public for some startling move. Italy, Japan, Finland, Hungary, Rumania, Bulgaria and Siam. The United States is not at war with Finland, Russia maintains relations with Japan and Siam and is also at peace with Bulgaria. ## TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

(From The Daily Colonist of April 7, 1918)

Shortage of Fish—That a very serious shortage in the supply of fish has resulted from the fixing of prices recently by the Canada Food Board is the claim made by local fishing interests. Many of the fishermen have refused to leave port since the prices at which their catches may be bought by wholesalers have been fixed, and in consequence the supply available has dropped off to an alarming extent. The wholesalers point out that while the Food Board has allowed a margin of profit to the wholesalers which leaves no cause for complaint as far as they are concerned, the board has also set the prices to the fishermen, as well as by the retailer to the public.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

(From The Daily Colonist of April 7, 1893)

Senator MacDonald's Return—Senator MacDonald has returned from Ottawa, and in an interview yesterday said that he thought that Victoria or this Province had no reason to complain of the amounts voted from the public exchequer this year. The Government would not contribute towards the expenses incurred by the city during the recent smallpox troubles, but would no doubt press forward the erection of a suitable quarantine station. They would bear the cost of maintaining the lepers on Darcy Island, and no doubt make arrangements by which the Indians would be removed from the reserve.

Working on Croquet Ground—The chain gang are engaged in laying out a croquet ground at Government House. A week or two ago they were placed under the control of the Mayor, and were employed in scraping the dirt together in heaps on Government Street, preparatory to carting it away, when they were called to Government House. The trouble with this colony is that the useful has always to give way to the ornamental.

AGAINST CHLORINATION

Sir,—In pursuance of the resolution adopted by the public meeting held in the Chamber of Commerce last Thursday to protest the chlorinization of the city's water supply, a petition directed to the Dominion Government has been approved by the special committee appointed to draft the same, for publication in the press, so that citizens will be fully advised of the action taken by the committee, and give their support to this petition against chlorinization of our pure water.

It should be understood that our Government has the power to chlorinate, and that our one hope of obtaining a favorable answer to this petition lies in the evidence it may give of the general will of the people of Greater Victoria, as expressed in the number of signatures.

A city-wide canvass, therefore, must be held to make sure that everyone is informed of the issue, and given an opportunity to sign if in agreement. To this end all who are willing to give some help in canvassing, or to assist in any way, are invited to send in their names and addresses to the undersigned. Arrangements are being made to establish a downtown office for a campaign headquarters, which will be announced later.

The hope of continuing to enjoy our delightful and wholesome water depends upon the cordial interest of every resident, and if enthusiastic help is forthcoming the petition can be speedily dispatched.

On behalf of the committee for petition,

HARRY LANGLEY, Chairman.

CHLORINATION

Sir,—I was at the meeting on Thursday on chlorination and to me it pointed to a weakness in our democratic system. On the same platform we had the Mayor and water board opposing their technical advisers and advancing no scientific argument against their advice. The meeting was an attempt at mass hysteria versus expert advice. The gentleman who was to have presided had business elsewhere; the head of the board of health was also absent; and I do not blame them, having regard to their skins. The meeting for one of Greater Victoria was poorly attended and was in no way representative. The anti-chlorinators' argument was "we don't want it." Is this scientific?

The time used is Pacific Standard, for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

To find the depth of water on the sill at the Esquimalt Drydock at any tide, add 30 feet to the height of high water as above given.

U.S. CASUALTIES

WORKERS FOR U.S.

MIAMI, Fla., April 6 (AP).—Bahamian farm workers are jamming recruiting stations in Nassau, competing for the chance to help food production in the United States under terms of the contract between this country and the Bahamian Government for importation of agricultural laborers. Five thousand workers to be imported will be rounded up within two weeks.

According to Culbertson

There is a saying in average bridge circles that "blank kings always make." Needless to say, there is considerable truth in this, and usually declarer is not to be blamed when he loses to a singleton king. At times, however, ordinary safety technique should result in the capture of these unguarded kings. For example:

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.
Rubber bridge.

NORTH
♠ K 8
♥ J 7 6
♦ A J 9 8 4 3
♣ 5 3

WEST
♠ 9
♥ K Q 8
♦ 6 5 2
♣ A J 10 9 4 2

EAST
♠ Q 6 5 3 2
♥ 10 9 4 3 2
♦ K
♣ 7 6

SOUTH
♠ A J 10 7 4
♥ A 5
♦ Q 10 7
♣ K Q 8

The bidding:

| South | West | North | East |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 ♣ | 2 ♣ | 2 ♦ | Pass |
| 2 NT | Pass | 3 NT | Pass |
| Pass | Pass | | |

West opened the jack of clubs. Declarer won with the king and, correctly analyzing that there was no hope of fulfilling the contract without running the diamond suit, immediately returned the diamond queen and finessed. East won and led back a club. West collected five club tricks, thus defeating the vulnerable contract two tricks.

It is no part of my purpose to imply that declarer should have guessed that the diamond king would fall on the ace. Not being clairvoyant myself, I do not look for that quality in other players. The fact remains, however, that declarer had overlooked two separate and distinct opportunities for a safety play in this deal. First, on the theory that West's vulnerable overcall might well have been based on a six or seven card suit, declarer might have refused to win the first trick, so that if East had the diamond king and no more than two clubs, the defenders would find their communications cut and be unable to run the club suit. Actually, if declarer had let the club jack hold the first trick, successful defence would have been out of the question.

But even after failing to make the described safety play, declarer could have recovered by using a different type of safety play in respect to the diamond suit. It was not important whether he made five or six diamond tricks; the vital point was to keep East off the lead and thereby prevent a club return. Thus, if the diamond king was right, declarer could afford to lead up to the ace and then make West a present of the king. If it was wrong, there was little declarer could do about it, unless the king was unguarded. This mere possibility was enough to dictate that declarer refuse the finesse in favor of playing the ace. This form of safety play does not offer any substantial insurance, but since it is a case of virtually nothing to lose and everything to gain, it, like all other forms of safety plays, should be employed under appropriate circumstances.

Drama Festival Opens With Fine Performances

The third Drama Festival with fourteen entries from schools in the Greater Victoria district was officially opened last evening by Mr. T. W. Hall, of the Department of Education, who was introduced to the large audience by Mr. H. S. Hurn, chairman of the committee in charge. The festival, which is non-competitive, is being held at the Victoria High School under the auspices of the school and community branch of the Education Department, Major L. Bullock-Webster, director. Mrs. Phoebe Smith, president of the Vancouver Little Theatre, is the adjudicator.

Mr. T. W. Hall, in declaring the festival formally open, mentioned with pride the boys and girls of the school, whether they belonged to the players' clubs or not, and who were now engaged in a "greater drama with the world as its stage." He was glad that in this mechanical age more leisure time was being filled properly. "The arts, music and drama, extend the horizons and enrich life, bringing with increasing years increasing serenity," he declared. Concluding with the remark that it was encouraging to know that similar gatherings of young audiences were meeting in various parts of Canada and that the humanizing arts and the rich heritage of folk lore were not being disregarded.

Four plays presented last evening received favorable comment from the adjudicator both as to quality of material selected and the high standard of individual performances. First on the programme was "The Birthday of the Infanta," adapted by Stuart Walker from the story by Oscar Wilde and played by students from Esquimalt High School, directed by Miss Gwen Hewlings. It was a gallant effort and well worth undertaking, Mrs. Smith said. The sensitive work of Clifford Pecknold as the Fantastic receiving special mention. The period costumes worn well aided the portrayal, Mrs. Smith said.

Taking part were: The Infanta of Spain, Maureen Pecknold; the Duchess of Albuquerque, Edith Benson; the Count of Tierra-Nueva, Devenay Maloan; the Fantastic, Clifford Pecknold; a Moorish page, John Jickling; another page, Dorothy Laidler.

The third presentation of the evening, "No Medals," by Ruth Adams Knight, entered by the Victoria High School was directed by Jean Ebert, a student. Mrs. Smith congratulated the young director and the members of the cast saying "they were everyday people and simply and sincerely portrayed their parts." Lighting was effective the criticism being a lack in the variety of tempo.

Taking part were: Margie Stewart (nineteen years, a nurse's aide), Ann Hirst; Babs Jordan (her friend, an ambulance driver), Marion Leveque; Dr. Kenyon (physician at hospital), Alan MacLean; Peter (small boy), Donald Bellamy; Mr. Bradford (middle-aged man), Frank Nicholson; Mrs. Bradford (his wife), Helen Fraser; Mrs. Scariatti (Italian woman), Frances Butteris.

"The Slippers of Cinderella," by Graham Robertson, performed by players from Sir James Douglas School and directed by Mrs. Elizabeth C. Smith, just "rollicked along" and was full of vitality and fun, the casting perfect. The children created atmosphere and never once let down the tempo of the play, said Mrs. Smith in summing up.

Included in the cast were: Myra Tremaine, Frances Crees; Jimmy Tremaine, John Goult; Dolly Tremaine and Polly Tremaine (twins), Shirley Young and Norma Wright; Belinda Tremaine (youngest sister), June O'Neil; Agatha (next door), Barbara Bell; Jane (maid of all work to Tremaines), Betty Thompson; Eliza (maid of all work to Agatha's family), Margaret Clapp; fairy godmother, Betty Yardley.

A lively comedy, "Romance Is a Racket," brought the first day of the festival to a close. Written by John Kirkpatrick, the play was directed by Denis W. Brown and performed by pupils of Mount View High School. The adjudicator liked the life and pace of the players and the good use made of stage props. The costuming she felt could have been brighter against such a dark background, but on the whole the effect was good and the audience enjoyed themselves.

The cast was as follows: Edith, Pamela Butcher; Nell, Marguerite Hurst; Kitty, Verene Maurer; Angeline, Trudie McGill; Liugu, George Reid; Wallie, George Ridley; Bill, Arnold Hornby; stage manager, R. Huddleston.

AFTERNOON SESSION

Three plays were presented in the afternoon. Mr. W. G. Gamble, inspector of schools, in his opening remarks voiced his appreciation to the committee in charge of the festival to Major L. Bullock-Webster and the players. "No greater advance has been made in education than in the theatre movement in this province," he declared, "and never before has there been greater or more widespread interest in drama than now. Born of thought, passion and action—it is interpreted by the living theatre." In conclusion, Mr. Gamble hoped that the study of the drama would be recognized by the church, school and home as one of the "greatest educational institutions."

"Wireless and Sich-Like," by F. Austin Hyde and W. G. S. Fifth, was the first play entered by Qualicum Beach School, directed by Robert I. Knight, with George H. Knight, stage manager. The adjudicator, Mrs. Phoebe Smith, remarked this play was a grand choice for boys. As the play progressed the performers gained confidence, she said, and showed evidence of careful training. The part of the grandfather, taken by Connla Wood, Mrs. Smith praised for make-up, as well as for character portrayal. It was a difficult role for so young a boy to play, she said. The "ladies" in the cast added a touch of color and gave the play "a lift," Mrs. Smith said, adding they were good sports to "put on a skirt and act the part."

The cast was as follows: Geoffrey Mossecrop, Reay Buckingham; Henry Mossecrop, Tommy Lamb; Williamson, Allan Herrington; Brigby, Pat Hume; Wilkins, Arthur Hughes; Montrey, John MacNaughton; Mrs. Wentworth, Deana Manning; the three daughters, Jeremy Rougier, Michael Parsons, Ian Buckingham; Jonathan Broadacres, Connla Wood.

BEAUTIFUL PRODUCTION

"A beautiful production," said the adjudicator to describe the second play of the afternoon, "The Hole in the Wall," by Alice C. D. Riley; directed by Jean M. Glendinning, with Daphne Bisson, stage manager, and entered by Quadra Street School. It was a delightful play for young people and stirred the imagination of both the players and audience. Mrs. Smith pointed out that miming plays are difficult to handle, and in this instance it was very well done. The movements were well thought out and the teamwork good. The time, thought and care shown in the clever costuming was also mentioned and the make-up was pronounced excellent. Mrs. Smith drew the attention of the players to the great art of word painting, urging them "to make a greater study of the things they have to say," and the importance of inflection and vitality of tone.

PLAYERS ARE COMMENDED

The third play of the afternoon was written and managed by the director, Elizabeth C. Smith, from the poem, "The Barrin' o' the Door" (Anon), and was performed by pupils of Sir James Douglas School, who had also by suggestions and ideas aided the director in the final presentation. In speaking of this, Mrs. Smith highly commended the players and called it "fine theatre." A play of this sort she said might easily get out of focus, but the director had kept a firm hand on the youthful performers." The play was beautifully presented; it opened well and had life—the audience could "feel it." The players had a nice sense of word values, and the costuming and lighting effects were well managed. The members of the cast were praised for their spontaneous performances and were as follows: Dickon (a woodcutter), Don Smyth; Mawkin (his wife), Eileen Smyth; Jack (a rascal), Victor Mitchell; Nick (another rascal), Murray Poskett; teller of the ballad, Marnie Wilson.

The festival is continuing this afternoon and evening with entries from the following schools: Qualicum Beach, Oaklands, Burnside, Esquimalt elementary, and Esquimalt High School, and Oak Bay and Victoria High Schools.

Fire Destroys Salmon Seiner

VANCOUVER, April 6 (CP)—The fifty-two-foot Mermaid I, salmon seiner under charter to the Army Service Corps, burned and sank while tied up near Port Hardy, B.C., Sunday night, but the crew reached shore safely, said reports reaching here today. The fire apparently started in the galley.

Fires Blamed On Airplanes

Crash Causes One, Burning Great Area

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J., April 6 (AP)—New Jersey's worst forest fire of the season was brought under control near Tuckerton today, but another blaze assumed threatening proportions near Millville.

Two of a series of fires in the pinelands of Atlantic, Cumberland, Burlington and Ocean Counties were ascribed by authorities to airplanes.

State police at Absecon reported an army plane crashed in flames near Germania, sixteen miles west of here, starting one blaze. It was brought under control tonight after burning several hundred acres.

The pilot landed by parachute at Port Republic, four miles from where the plane struck. He suffered burns.

State forest fire headquarters at Trenton reported the fire at Millville was the aftermath of aerial target practice. It had burned 1,100 acres when the report was made to the Trenton office and was still out of control.

The Tuckerton fire swept 12,000 acres before it finally was halted.

Predicts War Not Near End

Nazis Strong, Says American General

FORT GEORGE WRIGHT, Wash., April 6 (AP)—The general who is responsible for training all heavy bombardment crews for the United States predicted today that the war would still last a long time.

He is Maj.-Gen. Davenport Johnson, commanding officer of the Second Air Force, which trains crews for all four-motored bombers in the area from the Mississippi to the Pacific coastal strip.

In his first press conference since assuming his present command last February 24, General Johnson said: "The Germans, though crippled, are really a strong adversary. We have hardly started nibbling at the Japanese and they are beginning to exploit the resources they captured. It is well known that we are going to beat the Germans to their knees first and then go after the Japanese. And both are going to fight to the death."

The general made those comments in the face of optimistic statements about air power: That the power of aircraft is "jumping by leaps and bounds. We haven't scratched any limit yet."

He also declared the heavy bombardment training programme was still undergoing a continuing "tremendous" expansion to keep up with the production of planes. And he saw the airplane as having a "decisive effect on the course of the war."

He foresaw "a lot of tough fighting before we take Tunisia," explaining the German soldiers there were crack troops.

The increased tempo of bombing of Germany and German-occupied Europe means nothing more than "good weather," in the general's opinion.

Glider School Is Growing Rapidly

Glider-minded youth of Victoria turned out last night to the number of more than fifty, of whom about one-third were young women and girls, to hear a lecture by Jack Taylor, of the Victoria and Island Gliding and Soaring Club, 1407 Broad Street, where, in a spacious shop, the students are building their first training glider. Following the lecture and a quiz session, the youngsters adjourned to the shop, there to study blueprints, or to do some certain task in connection with the actual construction of a glider.

The club, organized since the first of the year, now has nearly 100 members. As chairman of the business and trade committee of the City Council, Alderman B. J. Gadsden became interested in the establishment of a glider school, and some months later the present club was formed, with Alderman Gadsden as president; Mr. Taylor, vice-president; Mrs. G. B. Murdie, secretary-treasurer; together with various others who are donating their time to the enterprise.

Arthur Swanson, one of the club lecturers, has 4,800 flying hours in power machines to his credit, plus 600 hours of gliding in South America, Europe and elsewhere. F. Bennett, former superintendent of a famous Eastern aircraft factory and now engaged in war work on the West Coast, is also giving generously of his time as a supervisor, and A. J. Patton, Victoria barrister, William Sylvester and others are contributing in some manner to the success of the enterprise.

Thirty-five air cadets are included in the present membership, and hardly a meeting night passes that some flying officer does not drop in for a "look-see." There are two types of membership, associate, for those between the ages of fourteen and eighteen, and active, for all above the age of eighteen. The membership fee is nominal in each case, and the public is invited to visit the classroom and shop. Lectures are given every Tuesday at 8 p.m. and Thursday evening is set aside as "work night."

Parents of some of the students were in evidence last night, a fact which both Alderman Gadsden and Mr. Taylor noted in urging parents generally to attend in order to see for themselves how well and carefully the youngsters are being trained to glide with safety in the special type of glider now being built.

Not Too Late to Plant Vegetables

At a meeting yesterday of the Victory Garden Committee of Victoria it was emphasized that it is not too late to plant, and now is the time to make preparation for seed sowing of the cabbage family—Brussels sprouts, kale, cauliflower, etc., for Fall and Winter use.

The committee is arranging for consent of the Victoria Horticultural Committee to make copies of the "Gardening Notes for April" in order that they may be available to interested victory gardeners.

The president reported that last Saturday two representatives of the National Film Board, Ottawa, took pictures of victory gardeners in Uplands district planting 300 pounds of potatoes on their community lot. Shots were also taken in other parts of the city, and thirty-five Girl Guides were photographed planting potatoes in their lot on the Savory estate. These pictures will be incorporated in a film to show work for home production of vegetables in various parts of Canada.

Mr. Warren reported on the organization meeting of Wartime Housing, when tenants formed a Garden Club, and the city waived the clauses necessitating lawn planting in favor of vegetables. The Victory Garden Committee in February last brought to the attention of the V.M.D. and Yarrows, Ltd., the need for increased home production of food and are greatly encouraged at the response given, it was reported.

It was also learned that the city will plough two and one-third acres on Chandler Avenue for Summer fallow, in order to get the land in good shape for next year's planting. Elsewhere, land ploughed by the city will be used to grow seed potatoes to help supply the demand next Spring.

MAIN DRIVING WHEELS OF CANADA'S WAR EFFORT

HURRYING wheels, thundering wheels. Wheels that have made it possible for Canada to grow in strength.

Today those wheels—the driving wheels of Canada's railways—are setting the pace for the war effort. They haul raw materials to humming war industries and rush away the finished tools of battle. They move food and fuel for the home front and the fighting front. They speed civilians on essential business, hasten troops to camps, embarkation points and on leave.

It's Canada's big war job. A job that only railway wheels can do. A job in which an army of 150,000 railway workers, men and women, is in the fight for Canada . . . shop crews and train crews, yard workers, section hands, telegraphers, signal men and office workers, a multitude of men and women in a multitude of jobs. They are making the giant wheels turn faster and faster.

From coast to coast in Canada, we—your railways—are rolling in the service of freedom, and our lines to and in the United States have linked the war efforts of two great sister nations.

The railway wheels are driving, in war as in peace, for Canada.

Mrs. A. Cownden Re-elected To Lead C.W.L. Activities

Mrs. A. Cownden was re-elected by acclamation to the presidency of Victoria Senior Subdivision, Catholic Women's League, at the annual meeting last night in the Parish Hall of St. Andrew's Cathedral. Other officers were: First vice-president, Mrs. Johnson; second vice-president, Mrs. P. C. Shaw; third vice-president, Mrs. J. E. Morry; recording secretary, Miss Madeline Clay; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Blair Reid; treasurer, Mrs. W. Mulcahy; councillors, Mrs. A. F. Windsu, Mrs. Webb, Mrs. J. Lennox, Mrs. A. L. Battle, Mrs. Devine, Mrs. Masterson.

A varied field of activities was splendidly covered by the various reports of conveners, Miss V. Babbington as corresponding secretary; Mrs. W. Mulcahy, treasurer; Miss M. Clay, recording secretary, reviewed the achievements of the past year in a most satisfying manner. Mrs. F. Lennox reported on membership; Mrs. F. T. Porter on citizenship; Miss M. Clay on study clubs, with special reference to the discussion and study club being held on Wednesday and Sunday evenings during Lent; education, Mrs. Ebbe-Canavan; Red Cross, Mrs. P. C. Shaw; Mrs. A. L. Battle for St. Louis College Sewing Circle and house committee; Mrs. M. Ormond for remailing committee assisted by Miss E. O'Brien; Miss Clay for Lay Retreats.

The annual report of the secretary and president's address were given at some length and reviewed the many interests and the help given to every worthy cause within the scope of community welfare. Miss Harriet O'Brien reported for Social Welfare and co-operation with St. Vincent de Paul Society.

Each convener, including Mrs. Blair Reid who gave practical advice on housing problems in which her committee had co-operated with the National Housing Registry, thanked the clergy and members of the C.W.L. for their help and interest. Mrs. A. Rule spoke of the work accomplished at the K. of C. Hut, thanking the various members who give their time faithfully in the canteen and in bed-making, and referred to the work of the Junior League who take charge, on Sundays. Other helpers were solicited.

The annual Spring fete at St. Ann's Academy was announced as a Diocesan C.W.L. project in which Victoria Senior Subdivision will take charge of the tea. The date will be May 4.

Monsignor Baker, honorary chaplain, who was present during the meeting, expressed his admiration and pleasure in hearing so many valuable reports of so much work well done. He thanked the officers and conveners and congratulated those newly elected, wishing them "continued success in all their efforts, in a time of great activity and great opportunities for selfless devotion to C.W.L. ideals and the crusade for a just peace."

Appreciation was expressed by the membership to the bishop and clergy, to the societies with which the league has been co-operating in all forms of war work.

Mrs. M. Ormond spoke of the assistance received by her in the furtherance of the interests of the Indians of Saanich.

Miss H. O'Brien and many others had combined to help in various ways, all most acceptable. Regret was expressed at the reported illness of Mrs. de Blaquiere and a message sent her from the meeting.

Need Ships Badly

P. McTague, chairman of the National War Labor Board.

Mr. Justice McTague said in the speech that drastic action might be necessary to halt wartime strikes and that blood had flowed in past strikes.

Mr. Howe appealed to labor and employers to make use of the existing machinery for settling disputes and not to resort to strikes that would interrupt war production.

NEED OF SHIPS NEVER SO URGENT

"The need of ships was never so urgent," he said, "and the need of airplane production, radio devices and other equipment never so great."

He referred to a circular in which a C.I.O. official was inviting workers in Sherbrooke, Que., to attend a meeting to "hear how we forced the Government to order a 55-cent basic wage in the steel industry."

The Government's intervention in the steel strike did not justify that boast, said Mr. Howe.

Mr. Howe replied to charges that plants making 4.5 shells, Valentine tanks and big guns were being held down to far below their production capacity, and that trouble was brewing in the Angus shops in Montreal because of stoppage of tank production.

He said the Valentine tank was a useful one, but was now outmoded and was not considered a "first line" weapon in any country except Russia.

By agreement, it was decided that British factories could most efficiently furnish all this type of tank that could be shipped to Russia.

MAY LAY OFF SOME MEN

The Angus shops were being retooled to turn out ship components and some men might be laid off during the change-over.

Production of 4.5 ammunition had been slowed down because there was a stock supply of seven months' production available and no overseas requirements at the moment. But the production machinery was being kept ready in the event of renewed demand.

The same was true of certain big gun production where it was charged production was far below capacity. The requirements were below production capacity at the moment.

During a lull in the conversation at a dinner party the hostess was unfortunate enough to emit a loud, rasping hiccup. A Frenchman, sitting by her, immediately apologized profusely, as if he had committed the faux pas. When the ladies had left the dining-room, an American asked the Frenchman why he had acted in this manner.

"As monsieur knows, we are a chivalrous people," was the reply. "I saw that madame was embarrassed, so I tried to throw the blame on myself."

Presently the men joined the ladies upstairs. After a little while the American found himself in conversation with his hostess in the middle of a group of guests.

Suddenly the alarming incident was repeated—the hostess hiccuped again.

The American turned quickly to the assembled guests, and announced with an engaging smile, "Folks, this one is on me!"

Witty Kitty

An optimist is she who thinks she can stretch her prewar income to cover her wartime budget.

Women's Institutes

LANGFORD

Sponsored by the Langford Women's Institute, an enjoyable card party was held at the home of Miss Savory, Island Highway, on Saturday evening. Mrs. H. Baynes, Mrs. R. J. Smith, T. Millward and W. Franklin were prize winners at bridge, and F. Staverman and Mrs. V. Franklin for whist. Bowls of lilies and daffodils were attractively arranged around the rooms. On Saturday, April 17, a card party will be held at Miss Savory's in aid of the Solarium.

LAKE HILL

Lake Hill Women's Institute meeting was held on Monday, with the vice-president, Mrs. G. Massey, in the chair. Regret was expressed that the president was unable to attend through illness. It was decided to organize a refresher course in first aid as soon as possible, with Mrs. Myles as convener. This will be open to the public and names should be sent in at once. Home nursing certificates have been received and will be presented at a tea on April 14 in the hall. A donation will be sent to the April Shower of Dimes for the Solarium. Mrs. Venville and Mrs. C. Richardson were the winners of the towel contest and Mrs. Webster was the winner of the hot supper dish competition. Arrangements were completed for the tea to be held on Wednesday, April 14. Good prizes will be given for the best flower arrangement, to be judged by popular vote. There will be an apron stall and other attractions.

Honors for Brides-Elect

Miss Sybil Holyoak, a bride-elect of the month, was the guest of honor on Monday evening when her sister, Mrs. William Allen, was hostess to her former associates at a surprise party held at the home of her mother, Mrs. J. W. Holyoak, 2359 Lee Avenue. Corsage bouquets of pink carnations and white freesias were presented to Miss Holyoak, her mother and Mrs. E. Bahner, mother of the groom-elect. Later, Miss Eileen Cromack, on behalf of employees of the Nu-Way Cleaners Limited, with their good wishes, presented Miss Holyoak with a set of twin waffle irons in a gaily wrapped package topped with a posy of Spring flowers. The guests were Mrs. J. W. Holyoak, Mrs. E. Bahner, Mrs. E. Allen, Mrs. P. Edmond, Mrs. E. Lord and Misses D. Callow, E. Hawthorne, M. Mann, A. Murdoch, E. Taylor, Ivy Grossmith, N. Williams, E. # At the Theatres

ATLAS THEATRE Both model planes and model children, like Roddy McDowall, cause trouble for Monty Woolley in "The Pied Piper," 20th Century-Fox's widely appealing picturization of Nevil Shute's magnificent story of tender devotion, exciting action and ingratiating humor, which ends tonight at the Atlas Theatre. It concerns the high adventure of a courageous man and five trusting children in flight from the Gestapo.

DOMINION THEATRE Currently featured in support of Gene Tierney, George Montgomery and Lynn Bari in 20th Century-Fox's "China Girl" at the Dominion Theatre, Sig Rumann will be well remembered by veteran theatregoers who saw him in such plays as "Grand Hotel," "Alien Corn" and "Eight Bells." "China Girl" also features Victor McLaglen, Alan Baxter, Myron McCormick and Bobby Blake. The film was directed by Henry Hathaway and produced by Bep Hechi, who also wrote the screen play.

CADET THEATRE "Mister V," which ends tonight at the Cadet Theatre, unfolds its dramatic action in present-day England, on the Swiss border and inside Nazi Germany. It was both produced and directed by Leslie Howard, who long ago advanced the theory that top-ranking stars should collaborate in the production of their pictures. The strong cast supporting the stars in "Mister V" includes A. E. Matthews, Roland Pertwee, Allan Jeayes, Peter Gawthorne and Ben Williams.

CAPITOL THEATRE All the baseball world knew that Bill Dickey, catcher for the New York Yankees, and Lou Gehrig, its resplendent first baseman, were not only teammates but pals for years. In "The Pride of the Yankees," Samuel Goldwyn's great film based on the life of Gehrig, now showing at the Capitol Theatre, these two are reunited, with Dickey playing himself and Gary Cooper starring as Lou Gehrig. Teresa Wright, Babe Ruth and Walter Brennan head the featured cast.

RIO THEATRE A penal colony, covering four acres and including the streets and wharves of a South American seaport, in addition to the prison buildings, gave Metro-Goldwyn construction crews one of the most extensive outdoor jobs when they built the sets for "Strange Cargo," which ends tonight at the Rio Theatre, with Joan Crawford and Clark Gable co-starred.

OAK BAY AND PLAZA THEATRES John Mills and Kay Walsh are appealing young lovers who become a devoted wedded pair during the off-ises action in "In Which We Serve," Noel Coward's epic of the Royal Navy, now on the screen of the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres, through United Artists release.

YORK THEATRE Ginger Rogers gives another superb performance in the title role of 20th Century-Fox's "Roxie Hart," which ends tonight at the York Theatre. In a role that is distinctly different from her recent successes, Ginger does an outstanding portrayal of the little girl who could do no wrong no matter how hard she tried.

TWO GREAT QUESTIONS of the DAY

A. When do they open?

B. When do they close?

We venture to think that if one hundred housewives of Victoria were asked what were the opening and closing hours of any half-dozen principal stores of the city there would be exactly one hundred DIFFERENT answers.

The present opening and closing schedule of Victoria stores would require daily revision and would be as difficult to decipher as a railroad timetable.

The transportation authorities have urged the public to "Shop More from Ten to Four" and if that is impossible, to delay the return home as late as possible. And up till now this idea has been endorsed by the City Traffic Committee.

OUR suggestion would be to open at a later hour in the morning and to continue the present 5:30 closing hour, but to close ALL DAY WEDNESDAY. This would facilitate shopping for War Workers, ease the transportation problem, and, incidentally, give everyone a full day to get on with their Victory Gardens.

But before making any further changes we certainly think that this matter should be carefully considered from every angle and that all interested should be given a voice in the matter. In this way a unanimous common-sense conclusion could be reached.

To Celebrate Golden Wedding

..... AND MRS. WILLIAM H. HADLEY

WHO will celebrate their fiftieth wedding anniversary on Sunday, April 11, when they will be "at home" to their friends between the hours of 2 and 5 and 8 and 10 at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Russell E. Ferguson, 3035 Balfour Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Hadley were married in the Parish Church of St. James, Wolverhampton, England, April 11, 1893, by Rev. F. A. P. Davis, on Mr. Hadley's return from a cruise in H.M.S. Mercury lasting three years and six months, during which his ship visited China, Japan, India, Russia, Straits Settlements and the Philippines.

After leaving the Royal Navy, Mr. Hadley became proprietor of The Crown at Penkridge, Staffordshire, for four years, leaving there to come to Canada thirty-five years ago, settling in Red Deer, Alberta, later becoming a member of the staff of The Red Deer News. He volunteered for active service in 1914 during the first Great War, and was sent to H.M.C.S. Shearwater at Esquimalt, being finally discharged in 1920 on the reorganization of the Canadian Navy, with the rank of commissioned warrant officer. He has been active in amateur sports for forty years and is a charter member of the Naval Veterans, Army and Navy Veterans and Canadian Legion.

Mr. Hadley retired two years ago and spends his time gardening at their home, 3471 Locust Avenue. At seventy-two years of age, he and his life partner are enjoying excellent health and are keenly interested in everything that goes to make life worth living.

Certificates Given A.R.P. Personnel

Residents of Saanich A.R.P. District No. 2 met in the Gordon Head Community Hall recently to hear a report of the Winter's A.R.P. activities and proposals for the future. The district warden made an appeal for recruits for all branches of the service, specially emphasizing the need for firemen, special police and first aiders.

G. G. Edwardson, provincial secretary of the St. John Ambulance Association, presented certificates to successful candidates in a recent examination in various stages of first aid work.

Through the courtesy of the St. John Ambulance Association, which also provided the necessary equipment, the following motion pictures were shown: "The New Fire Bomb," "Ordinary People," "Our Business Is Fighting," "Inside Fighting Russia." Mr. Edwardson acted as operator.

Hofmann will play here Friday night.

SEARCHLIGHT LIGHTING

MANCHESTER (CP)—Experts are toying with an idea to use searchlights for street lighting in Britain after the war.

Children to Turn In Fat on Friday

School children acting as "explosive commandos" these days are reminded that they must have all the tins of fat renderings or drippings turned in to their school teachers before Friday in order to get their free theatre tickets, it was stated yesterday.

The Famous Players' Theatres Salvage Corps of British Columbia and the Rotary Club of Victoria are sponsoring a city-wide contest for school children to exchange tins of fat renderings or drippings at their schools for a free ticket to the Atlas Theatre "Salvage Fat Matinee" on Saturday, April 17, at 9:30 a.m.

All children are asked to canvas householders, restaurants and hotels in order to collect as much bacon fat, mutton fat, shortening, etc., as possible. The Rotary Club is also donating $48 in War Savings Stamps as prizes for the boys or girls who collect the most fat. Not more than six prizes will be donated to any one school.

School children are urged to hurry up and have their quota of at least one pound of fat at their schools before Friday next, so they will receive their free theatre tickets. Canada needs forty million pounds of fat to make glycerine, which is used in the making of high explosives to destroy the Axis tanks, planes and subs, and children can do their bit by being "explosive commandos," officials said yesterday.

Absenteeism among the "under 30's" in Welsh coal mines has shown a slight improvement during February, the Regional Coal Board announced.

March Bad Month on Sea Route

Allied Losses to Submarines Higher

WASHINGTON, April 6 (CP).—Navy Secretary Frank Knox said today Allied ship losses in the Atlantic were considerably worse in March than in February, due to intensified operations of German submarines.

February was one of the best months of the war to date, and Knox's comment was not regarded as indicating a new peak in sinkings had been reached, but simply that the Battle of the Atlantic had taken a turn for the worse.

Asked whether the navy is holding back good news about the war in the Pacific, Knox said that was "somebody's pipe dream." Questioned specifically about developments in the North Pacific, he said the situation was "about in status quo."

REFUSES ANSWER TO QUESTION

A reporter suggested that the much heavier bombing offensive against the Japanese base on Kiska Island beginning in March seemed to indicate that "our positions in the Andreanof Islands had been extended or advanced toward Kiska." Asked whether that was true, Knox replied: "That we aren't telling anybody." He said the Japanese on Kiska are being hammered pretty regularly, but whether they are in bad shape was something he did not know.

Knox gave no estimate of the total number of U-boats the Nazis have thrown into their Spring offensive, but he said that "just as we expected and as I said it would be, there are more German subs out there."

"They've changed their tactics more or less," he said, without disclosing what new tactics had been observed. "The situation is serious and a tough one. Nobody is a bit complacent about it."

The U-boats are concentrating in the Middle Atlantic, he said, along the shipping routes from the United States to England and in the Mediterranean.

To counter the U-boat offensive the United States is rushing construction of a fleet of destroyer escort ships, he said.

U.S. Plane Crashes

Building Huge New Bombers

LONDON, April 3 (CP).—Bombers which will carry twice the bomb load of the best present types and will travel farther and faster are going into production at two American plants, Sir Roy Fedden, chairman of the recent British Air Mission to the United States, disclosed yesterday.

The new planes will be turned out by Boeing and by Consolidated, he told a press conference.

"We are putting in a strong recommendation that the R.A.F. use one of these types," he said.

He said American plants were also working on improved versions of the Mustang, Curtiss P-40 and Airacobra and a new Douglas fighter.

Agriculture experts of the Orange Free State predict a record wheat crop and announced an improved outlook for maize following last-minute rains.

Canadian Is Most-Bombed On Iroquois

Youthful Veteran Three Times Wrecked

OTTAWA, April 6 (CP).—Lieut. William P. Hayes, of Swift Current, Sask., has the dubious distinction of being the most-bombed officer aboard the Canadian Navy's powerful new Tribal class destroyer, H.M.C.S. Iroquois, said Naval Headquarters today.

Arrival of the Iroquois in a United Kingdom port from a Canadian port on her first eastward Atlantic crossing was announced by Navy Minister Macdonald yesterday. The Iroquois now is somewhere at sea on active duty.

Three times in the first eighteen months of war Lieut. Hayes was blasted or torpedoed from his ship. Each time he has emerged without a scratch.

At twenty-three, he is a veteran of the war at sea and his experience is proving valuable in his position as air defence officer of the Iroquois.

Hayes, the son of F. C. Hayes, K.C., Mayor of Swift Current, tells an amusing story about "the law of diminishing returns" as it affects cable for funds after bombing.

FIRST ESCAPE IN 1940

His first experience came in 1940, when he was serving as a midshipman aboard H.M.S. Liverpool, the British cruiser, off Crete. Seven thousand gallons of high-octane gas she was carrying blew up twenty minutes after he had been torpedoed. Hayes got away in a boat and cabled his father: "Safe. Please send £20. ($90.)

His father sent £25 ($112.50.)

Six months later, serving in H.M.S. York, the young Saskatchewan officer saw his ship attacked by torpedo bombers in Suda Bay. They were forced to beach the ship and dive bombers completed its destruction.

This time Hayes cabled: "Still safe. Please send £20."

Again his father wired him £25.

THIRD TIME, CUT RATE

Then Hayes, still a middy, was moved to the destroyer H.M.S. Isis as she took part in the Syrian campaign. A Junkers 88 dropped a 1,000-pound bomb. The young Canadian watched it drop.

"I thought it was going to take my teeth out," he recalled with a smile. "Actually, I suppose it landed more than fifty feet away, but it crumpled up our quarter-deck like an accordion. She managed to limp into Haifa, where she foundered in the mud."

Again Hayes was obliged to cable for funds.

This time his father was sitting in his office with his partner, James O. Begg, K.C., when the cable arrived. After reading it, he turned it over to Begg with a wink and said: "Wouldn't you think he could save himself a little cheaper than that?"

He sent Son Billy £20.

B.B.C. Tells Nazis Of Fleet Movements

LONDON, April 6 (AP).—Departing from the usual practice of screening the movements of British warships, the British Broadcasting Corporation told German listeners in a German-language broadcast today that "according to the news reaching London" the British battleships Nelson, Rodney and Malaya and the aircraft carrier Formidable had left Gibraltar for "an unknown destination."

The B.B.C. said the story was not based on an official announcement.

Its broadcast was interpreted as a part of the war of nerves, but the B.B.C. declined to use that phrase.

New Squadron

LONDON, April 6 (CP).—Formation of a new squadron which will shortly move into the Canadian Bomber Group was announced at R.C.A.F. Overseas Headquarters today.

The squadron, which will be under command of Wing Cmdr. J. Coverdale, of the R.A.F., went into operation a few weeks ago in an R.A.F. bomber group.

Flt. Lt. C. B. Higgins, of Nelson, B.C., is acting as squadron adjutant.

Glancing Over Sport—

By JOE DELAHUNTY

WASHING

The all-star teams from the National Hockey League have been announced and, as expected, we find Lynn Patrick on the second squad at the left wing berth. He would have retained his place from last year but the sport scribblers couldn't pass up Doug Bentley, league's scoring champion, and therefore he was placed on the No. 2 team by the majority of those voting. . . . Montreal Canadiens was the only club in the circuit not to place a man on either line-up, but they only missed out by a fraction in the polling. Lorne Carr and Bryan Hextall nudged the flashy Joe Benoit out of the right wing berths by the closest of margins, but that's the way it went, so the former Trail Smoke-Eater was left on the sidelines by a whisker. . . . The war has been responsible for several radical changes in baseball but none like the quirk which has made catchers as scarce as hen's teeth in the National League. Service calls or defence jobs will keep Ernie Lombardi, Harry Danning, Babe Phelps, Billy Sullivan and Ray Lammano among the missing when the cry of "play ball" sounds on April 21. Such a situation is unique in the annals of the national pastime across the border since catchers, despite being the game's most hazardous job, usually last longer than most players. . . . Joe McCarthy says the Yankees will be the team to beat in this season's pennant race, although minus several of their main cogs of last year.

ODDS AND ENDS

Remember when: Lester Patrick, then, as now, big chief of the New York Rangers, went into goal in place of Lorne Chabot for more than half a Stanley Cup game and held Montreal Maroons to only one goal? Well, that will be fifteen years ago tomorrow night and Lester was forty-four at the time. Rangers won the game, 3-1, the cup and league championship that season . . . Frank Shaughnessy figures his International Baseball League umpires will have to work for their dough this year with Pepper Martin, Gabby Hartnett, Burleigh Grimes and Fresco Thompson managing clubs. Those veterans have learned plenty during their many years in the majors and it doesn't take very much for any of them to take off from the dugout and land at the umpire's throat . . . Gunder Haegg, the great Swedish distance runner and holder of numerous world's records, is a fireman in the town of Gavle, where he makes $20 per week. He likes it, however, because he has oodles of time on his hands for training . . . Do you know that Beau Jack, world's lightweight boxing champion, who had Lady Luck wrapped around his corner when he fought Henry Armstrong last week, was turned down by the army because he can't write nothing more than his own name and only can count up to ten? . . . Talking about Hammering Hank. In an even dozen fights before "he retired" from the ring, Armstrong average 18,000 spectators and a $75,000 gate for each show. The high spot was $150,000 for his battle with Barney Ross at the Garden Bowl. Henry has been long out of retirement, and right now is gunning for the lightweight crown once more . . . In answer to a query: Winnipeg hockey teams won the Allan Cup on seven occasions, the last time being in 1931. Winnipeg Victorias came through in 1911 and 1912; Winnipeg Hockey Club the following year; Winnipeg Monarchs in 1915; Winnipeg 61st Battalion in 1916; Falcons in 1920 and also the world's title.

FROM HERE AND THERE

Somewhere between here and Alaska there is a lake where the trout are really big and friendly. If you have that placid look on your face, they come right up to the boat, circle the craft twice, take a look at the man in charge and, if he appears anyway sociable, they jump in and say: "Take us with you, brother, you look half-starved." That's what Radio Announcer Lee Halberg tells me after returning from a fishing trip last Sunday with Jimmy Haslam and Bill Chidgey. Lee won't even give the location of the lake, but simply says it is in the vicinity of Shawnigan. The trio hooked two beauties along with several smaller ones and the summary goes like this: Haslam (eight-pounder), Chidgey (five and three-quarter-pound trout), Halberg (0 plus nothing, which equals 0). Lee claims he was rowing all the time and doing the supervising, but that's the same as telling the judge you only had two glasses of suds when you took care of twenty-two . . . Boston Bruins are up against the wall tonight when they face the Flying Wings from Detroit in the third game of the Stanley Cup hockey series in the Beantown. Two games down, Art Ross' squad will have to snap out of it or the Motor City boys will have a stranglehold on the trophy which was first won by Montreal A.A.A. back in 1893. Bruins ought to win this evening by three goals because everything favors them, except the odds and the Detroit team . . . If the weatherman doesn't behave any better the local ball league may have to postpone their official opening, which is slated for May 1. So far, the clubs have had little chance to train and it takes at least a month to limber up and have the players ready for the flag chase . . . The picture, "Pride of the Yankees," reminds me of the time I met the late Lou Gehrig and Babe Ruth in Vancouver. In the hotel that same night was another sport celebrity with the Yankee duo. It was Gene Tunney.

All-Star Hockey Squads Released

Earl Seibert Only Repeater From Last Year—Lynn Patrick Placed

By FRASER MacDOUGALL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, April 6 (CP) — The leading role played by a pair of Jacks in winning the National Hockey League championship pot for the Detroit Red Wings was recognized today in their selection for the thirteenth annual all-star teams chosen for The Canadian Press by thirty hockey writers in N.H.L. cities.

One of the pair is volatile Johnny Mowers, from Niagara Falls, Ont., whose selection as goaltender on the first team climaxed a brilliant season, in which he won the Vezina Trophy as the outstanding net-minder in the league. The other is Jack Stewart, hard-hitting defence star from Pilot Mound, Man., whose consistently good work over the season's play made him the leading choice for the left defence position.

Red Wings dominated the first team selections with three of the seven-man squad — Mowers and Stewart as playing members and Jack Adams as coach. However, Boston Bruins led in the number of selections for all fourteen positions, playmaker Bill Cowley being a predominant choice for centre on the first team and three other players being selected for the second team along with Art Ross as coach.

Only repeater from last year on the first team line-up was big Earl Seibert, of Chicago Black Hawks, who has figured in the all-star selections in nine of his twelve years in the N.H.L. Seibert was named to the right defence post, the same he held in 1942. He was first named to the All-star team in 1935 at left defence and in the other six years has been on the alternate squad.

At left wing is the leading scorer, Doug Bentley, of Chicago Black Hawks, who scored thirty-three goals and had forty assists for seventy-three points. It is Bentley's first time on the all-star team, as well as for Toronto's Lorne Carr, who drew the right wing berth. Carr stood fifth in the season's scoring record with sixty points, having twenty-seven goals and thirty-three assists.

ALTERNATE TEAM IS POWERFUL

The alternate team packs almost as much power as the first. In goal is Boston's Frank Brimsek, first team goalie in 1942. Boston contributes both defencemen, Johnny Crawford and Bill Hollett, both making their bow to all-star ranks, Hollett after ten seasons in the N.H.L. Native of North Sydney, N.S., Hollett was the league's top rushing defenceman of the season, setting a new scoring record for defence players with nineteen goals and twenty-five assists for a total of forty-four points.

The first team centre of a years ago, Toronto's Syl Apps, was named as centre on the alternate team despite his absence from hockey activity after January 30, when he suffered a fractured leg. However, Apps scored twenty-three goals and had seventeen assists in his abbreviated season.

Two members of the New York Rangers, who were on the first team roster in 1942, took the right and left wing spots on the second squad Bryan Hextall, who was born in Grenfell, Sask., and Lynn Patrick, a native of Victoria. Patrick, with twenty-two goals and thirty-nine assists, had sixty-one points during the season, while Hextall had fifty-nine — made up of twenty-seven goals and thirty-two assists.

Keenest voting was for the right wing job, where Joe Benoit, Montreal Canadiens' thirty-three-goal winger, almost gained a position for his team, which was unrepresented in the final all-star selections. Benoit had the most votes for the first team position with eleven, Carr having nine. However, under the system of "weighting" the vote, which gives equal voting power to each N.H.L. city, Carr took the position. Weighting also gave Hextall a slight edge over Benoit for the second team spot, the New York winger having 104 points to 103 1-3 for the Montreal player.

The complete all-star teams:

EXPLANATION TO YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

The Puzzle of Ali Khasim—Ali Khasim of Kairouan, Tunisia, suffered an attack of total amnesia after being hit with a rock. He lost the memory of his existence, and among other things could not recall a word of the Koran, which he had known by heart. Instead, he was able to recite the Kalevala, an epic Finnish poem of great length, and recite it in the original Finnish. The explanation of his miracle is that Ali was originally a Finn who suffered an attack of amnesia once before, and assumed a second personality. The second blow restored to him part of his original memory, 1912.

Large Trout Hooked "Somewhere on Island"

—By Staff Photographer.

A TRIO of Victoria fishermen proudly display two of the beauties they hooked last Sunday while angling in the vicinity of Shawnigan. In fact, they are so proud of their catch, they refused to divulge the lake from which the trout were taken, but it is just a matter of time before the secret spot will leak out, if you know this threesome. Both are Kamloops trout and were caught on a Lake Troller spoon and worm. Major Monteith, well-known authority on fishing, said they were the biggest specimens he has seen here for a long time. Jimmy Haslam (left) hooked the larger of the two, it weighing eight pounds, while Bill Chidgey, one of the leading jockeys on Canadian tracks a few years ago, on the right, caught the other, which hit the scales at five and three-quarter pounds; while Radio Announcer Lee Hallberg, third party in the boat, admits he caught nothing as he was oarsman, supervisor and handyman on the trip.

Blind Man Is Staging Mix

Promoting Fight In Texas Ring

FORT WORTH, Texas, April 6 (AP).—An eye injury knocked Dickie Griffin out of a shot at a world's boxing championship.

Subsequent blindness ended his career as a promoter.

Now blindness is responsible for his return to the game he loves—as matchmaker for the Manuel Ortiz-Lupe Cordoza fifteen-round bantamweight title fight here on April 28.

Twenty-two years ago Tex Rickard arranged for Griffin to fight Pete Herman for the bantamweight crown. But in a warm-up bout, Dickie was hit in the eye and suffered a detached retina. He became a promoter but blindness forced him from the game. Now he uses a seeing eye dog to guide him.

Then the Fort Worth Lions Club and similar clubs in surrounding cities decided to promote a world's championship fight with proceeds going to the Lighthouse, an organization for the blind. Griffin was asked to serve as matchmaker.

The Ortiz-Cordoza bout is the result.

Griffin, working without pay, expects a gate of $20,000.

Local High Wins; Game Set Today

Victoria High School footballers advanced to the final round of the Worthington Cup series yesterday afternoon by downing Mount View High, 4-2, at the Athletic Park. It was 2-0 at the half for the winners, with Chang and Scott doing the scoring. In the final forty-five minutes, Donaghy and Scott scored for Victoria, while Robertson and Burdge counted for the losers.

This afternoon the other semi-final match will be staged on the same ground, with Esquimalt opposing Mount Douglas High at 4 o'clock.

Sport Snapshots

By CHARLES EDWARDS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO, April 6 (CP).—The death at St. Charles, Ill., of Winnipeg, famous pacing gelding, recalls that three Winnipeg men made a profit of $24,250 when they sold the great horse in 1928 to Colonel E. J. Baker, of St. Charles.

The three Winnipeggers, Frank Harvie and the Jackson brothers, John and Jim, bought the gelding as a four-year-old in 1926 from Sam Roe, of Calgary, a brother of C. F. Roe, honorary treasurer of the Prairie Thoroughbred Breeders and Racing Association. They paid just $750.

The colt developed into a winner. Attending a race meet at Kalamazoo, Mich., in 1928, Colonel Baker offered them $10,000 for the gelding. Even at that high price they were reluctant to sell. They put a price of $25,000 on Winnipeg and figured to hear no more about it. Next day came an offer for $15,000. There was nothing doing—the price was $25,000. Finally, Baker wrote a cheque for that amount, a record price for a pacing gelding at that time. That same year he set the mile pacing record of 1:57¾ at Toledo, Ohio, a mark since lowered to 1:55. The gelding was retired in 1931 after winning many times his purchase price.

LIKE PAPPY, LIKE SON

Thain Simon, defenceman with Ottawa R.C.A.F. Flyers senior hockey team, is a brother of Defenceman Cully Simon, of Detroit Red Wings. Thirty years ago their father, Bill Simon, was a defence star with Brockville, Ont. His defence mate then was Thain McDowell, who became a major and won the V.C. and D.S.O. in the first Great War. Thain Simon was named for him.

HOME TOWN BOY MAKES GOOD

Detroit's Vezina Trophy winner, Goalie Johnny Mowers, of the Wings, will be feted April 26 at Niagara Falls, Ont., at a joint affair of the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Industrial Hockey League.

Victorian Is Ranked

LYNN PATRICK

Victoria-born big league hockey star, who was given the left wing berth on the alternate team by the sport writers who selected the annual all-star teams for The Canadian Press. Lynn, on the first squad a year ago, was beaten out by none other than Doug Bentley, N.H.L. scoring champion from the Chicago Black Hawks camp. Patrick enjoyed a great season, maybe his last under the big tent for he expects to enlist in the United States Army shortly, with the cellar-dwelling New York Rangers and finished fourth on the scoring list with sixty-one points, just a dozen behind the winner.

Three Players on Way to Bolster The Red Wings

INDIANAPOLIS, April 6 (AP). —With cheques for $440 as their share of the $7,800 Indianapolis Capitals won in finishing as runner-up in the American Hockey League's Calder Cup play-offs, Joe Fisher, Connie Brown and Bill Quackenbush tonight were on their way to join the parent Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League.

Fisher went to Boston, where he will play with the Red Wings in the third game of the Stanley Cup series on Wednesday. Brown and Quackenbush left for Detroit to keep in physical shape in case one of them is needed before the Red Wings finish their series.

Actually, the Caps won only $6,800 in the play-off series, but owners of the team tossed in a $1,000 bonus after they pulled Adam Brown and Hal Jackson out of the line-up to aid the Detroit cause.

Cleveland Drops

CHICAGO, April 6 (AP).—Cleveland today dropped out of the National Football League for the duration.

With the withdrawal, the league was reduced to nine clubs, whose owners pledged they will continue to operate.

Cleveland players will revert to the league, to be disposed of among the remaining clubs. From fourteen to eighteen players would be available for the pool.

The withdrawal leaves four teams in the Western division of the league—Chicago Bears, Chicago Cardinals, Green Bay Packers and Detroit. Cleveland finished third in the Western division last year and seventh in the league, winning five and losing six games.

Collegians Travel

St. Louis College basketballers will leave on this afternoon's boat for Vancouver, where they will meet the Arrows, Mainland intermediate "B" titleholders, in a sudden-death game for the Coast championship this evening at 8:30 at the King Edward High School gymnasium. The winning quintette will earn the right to journey to Penticton to play for the British Columbia crown.

Ottawa Flyers Win Over Halifax, 7-2

Reach Eastern Final by Triumph—Oshawa and Saskatoon Victors

OTTAWA, April 6 (CP)—An all-Ottawa Eastern Canada senior hockey final was assured tonight when Ottawa R.C.A.F. Flyers trimmed Halifax Airmen, 7-2, in the fifth and deciding game of their semi-final series.

With A.C. Tony Licari, former Detroit Red Wings, scoring three quick second-period goals, Bill Touhey's Allan Cup defenders took the series by three games to two, and qualified to meet Commandos for the right to travel west for the Allan Cup finals.

Halifax, weakened by the loss of A.C. Gene Reinhardt and A.C. Carl Ripley, injured in the fourth game of the series last Saturday, were unable to match Flyers' speed. L.A.C. Frank Boucher sent the home forces to the front in the first period, and Licari's hat trick made it 4-0 in the second before P.O. Jack Acheson replied with a pair for Halifax.

Before the period ended, Cpl. Conny Tudin got a fifth Ottawa counter, and goals by A.C. Don Robbins and L.A.C. Hank Blade in the third completed the scoring. Acheson and Lieut. Bobby Copp handled the blue-line chores for the Halifax club, with L.A.C. Bobby Bauer dropping back for relief purposes.

LINE-UPS

Ottawa — Pinke; Cain, Maki; Boucher, Licari, Blade, Tudin, Robbins, Haneberry, Simon.

Halifax—Hurd; Acheson, Copp; Stanley; Bauer, Snell, Evans, Gray, Desbiens, Timmins.

Officials — Ken Mullin, George Gravel, both Montreal.

SUMMARY

First Period—1, Ottawa, Boucher (Blade, Cain), 13:13. Penalty: Robbins.

Second Period—2, Ottawa, Licari (Blade), 1:42; 3, Ottawa, Licari (Blade), 3:54; 4, Ottawa, Licari (Boucher), 4:05; 5, Halifax, Acheson (Stanley), 5:44; 6, Halifax, Acheson (Timmins), 6:56; 7, Ottawa, Tudin (Maki), 17:01. Penalty, Desbiens.

Third Period—8, Ottawa, Robbins (Tudin), 5:38; 9, Ottawa, Blade (Cain), 15:38. Penalties, Maki, Desbiens.

TORONTO, April 6 (CP) — Too much speed and too much finesse told the story tonight as Oshawa Generals ran roughshod 9-2 over Montreal Canadiens in the opening game of their best-of-five round for the Eastern Canada junior hockey title. Only 3,276 fans watched the encounter.

The Generals took eleven of the eighteen penalties handed out during the game for misdemeanors running from failure of a player to carry a broken stick to the side to a minor fight that flared up near the end of the game between Ross Johnstone, of Oshawa, and Fred Gibbon, of Canadiens.

As has been the case all season, the boys that carried the mail for the Generals were Red Tilson, Floyd Curry and Ken Smith, the transplanted Reginans. They saw to it that the Generals raced into the lead in the opening period. And Canadiens never threatened that lead at any stage of the game.

The Generals ran the count to 4-0 in the first fourteen minutes. And three of those goals were supplied by the Tilson-Curry-Smith line, with Bill Ezinicki getting the other.

Tilson had three goals in the contest, one of them on a major penalty shot. Curry and Ezinicki had two apiece. And single goals were chalked up by Smith and Frankie Bennett. The Montreal goals, both scored in the first period, went to Andy Perron and Bernie Lauzon. The line of Perron, Lauzon and Tod Campeau proved Montreal's only threat during the entire contest.

LINE-UPS

SASKATOON TRIMS WINNIPEG CLUB

SASKATOON, April 6 (CP)—Showing a complete reversal of form, Saskatoon Quakers, Saskatchewan champions, defeated Winnipeg Rangers, Manitoba representatives, 12-4, here tonight, in the third game of a best-of-five series for the Western Canada junior hockey championship.

Rangers won the first two games played at Winnipeg last week by 12-8 and 7-2 scores. The fourth game will be played here Thursday night and the fifth, if necessary, on Saturday night.

Playing on their home ice before 2,850 fans, Quakers established a 2-1 lead in the first period; increased it to 5-2 in the second, and added seven more counters while their opponents were scoring twice in the third period.

Roddy Morrison, Johnny Harma and Eldy Kobussen, with three each; Gerry Couture, with two, and Pat Lundy were the goal getters for the Quakers. Jack Taggart, Bill Vickers, Eddie Coleman and Jack Irvine netted for the Manitoba champions.

Breakaways from the Rangers' ganging attack accounted for a large number of Saskatoon goals. After the hub city youngsters built up a 3-1 lead in the second period, Rangers fired the puck into their opponents' corner to produce scrambles around the Saskatoon goal.

Before the period ended, Couture and Lundy broke away to beat Doug Jackson while Vickers and Taggart were combining for the Winnipeg counter.

The third period was a duplicate of the second with Couture and Morrison scoring after breakaways before Gardner counted for the visitors. Morrison and Kobussen each scored twice before Coleman and Irvine picked up the final Winnipeg goal. Harms completed the scoring for the Quakers seconds later.

The game produced seven penalties with Quakers drawing four to three for Rangers. Each club scored while Boorman was serving his third period penalty.

Lorne Richardson, Quakers goalie, handled forty shots to Doug Jackson's twenty-eight, and was one of the Quakers stars. The others were Lundy and Morrison. Vickers and Taggart were the best of the Ranger forwards, while Jack Irvine turned in a sound game on defence.

Line-ups

Winnipeg—Jackson, Boorman, Irvine; Russell; Coleman, McDonald. Subs: Vickers, Taggart, Gardner, Tindall.

Saskatoon — Richardson; Dawes, Waldner; Lundy; Harms, Morrison. Subs: Kobussen, Couture, Jacobson, Turner.

New one to six-year highs were registered in one of the broadest sessions on record, but declines were widespread at the close.

War news, inflation threats and investment factors persisted as bullish arguments, but the length of the swing caused the trimming of commitments. The buoyant rails of yesterday lost rising momentum.

The Associated Press sixty-stock average ended .2 of a point higher at 49.8, a peak since May 9, 1940. Of 1,011 individual issues traded, biggest total since late May, 1940, 424 were up, 365 down and 222 unchanged. Transfers of 2,463,000 shares compared with 2,647,920 the day before.

Packard Motors gained ⅝ at 4⅞, and Aviation Corp. was up ⅛ at 5⅛. Radio Corp. was unchanged at 10½, and International Telephone up ⅛ at 10¼.

Christian Values Necessary to Win War and Peace

Kiwanian Stresses Spiritual Revival

That a return to the true spiritual values of Christianity is the fundamental necessity in "winning" the [illegible] and maintaining the peace, is a fact impressed upon members of the Kiwanis Club by Philip S. Hitchcock, of Sisters, Oregon, governor of the Pacific Northwest district of Kiwanis International, when he spoke at the club luncheon in the Empress Hotel yesterday.

"The fundamental thing in winning the war and winning the peace is that we learn to differentiate between Christianity and sentimentality," he declared, after telling how such leaders as George Washington, Abraham Lincoln and Douglas MacArthur turned to the sanctuary of God in their greatest hours.

"Christianity is said to be soft, but it must be tough," he said.

Mr. Hitchcock, who is engaged in logging operations in Sisters, Oregon, was introduced as the youngest member of the Kiwanis to hold the high position of district governor. Formerly chairman of public affairs for Kiwanis, he travels extensively in his private plane, by which means he made his present visit to Victoria.

Stating how proud he was of the part played by Kiwanians in leading community war activities in both Canada and the United States, and of their efforts, sacrifices and achievements, Mr. Hitchcock asserted that, although people on the American continent have not yet felt the worst hardships of war, it was time to think about the peace. He added: "I believe Kiwanians are community leaders, and from them come the leaders to direct public opinion in this matter.

"We have the privilege of witnessing the greatest experience of mankind, and the awful responsibility of shaping the destiny of the world for generations to come," he concluded.

Preceding the speaker, an appeal for support of the Fourth Victory Loan was made by Denis Hagar, organizer of the National War Finance Committee for Vancouver Island, who read a letter from George W. Spinney, chairman of the National War Finance Committee, pointing out the necessity of raising a huge sum of money to win the war, and at the same time avoiding the economic ruin of inflation.

A new member, John Fox, was introduced by Austin I. Curtis, and was inducted by Governor Hitchcock.

Meeting Arranged to Discuss Fuel Problem

An attempt to solve the local fuel question will be made at an open meeting in the Chamber of Commerce next Monday evening at 8 o'clock, which will be sponsored by the Vancouver Island Joint Labor Conference.

The meeting will be open to delegations and it is expected representatives of the Provincial Government, councils of the city and three municipalities and local unions will attend. Church and fraternal groups also are expected.

R. Noble, secretary of the Victoria Labor Council, has charge of arrangements.

Claim Dominion Regulations Met By City Water

Anti-Chlorination Petition Prepared

The petition approved yesterday by the anti-chlorination committee of Victoria citizens, and which will [illegible] affirmative and negative, claims the city water supply complies with requirements of the order in council enforcing chlorination.

It states, in part:

"Regular analyses made twice a month over a period of many years under the direction of the Victoria Water Board, show the water to be absolutely pure for all reasons of health. This was confirmed by a Dominion Government official making a survey of the water systems of Canada, in 1936, who stated: 'The water system of Victoria ranks with the finest in the world. The water is crystal clear and pure.'

"The analysis of our water also fully complies with the requirements of the order in council, No. 5707, of July 23, 1942, so that it cannot be deemed to be unsafe for human consumption under such order. A copy of the report of the medical health officer of the City of Victoria, of August 12, 1942, to this effect is annexed hereto.

"Our city has been immune from all epidemics, and the infantile mortality is officially known to be among the lowest anywhere. Therefore, we respectfully contend that Victoria City water is thoroughly healthful for use by His Majesty's armed forces and all other persons."

The petition recognizes the installation of chlorination machinery for an emergency as justifiable, but claims the emergency is remote, and that there is no record of an enemy attempting to pollute British water systems, within easy reach of the continent. It is also stated that the pure water here is one of the city's major attractions.

The petition continues:

"We are opposed to the chlorination of our pure water supply, and we resent its pollution by this injurious chemical, and request that actual chlorination be stayed until our present water system has been tested and found wanting, or until an actual emergency arises.

"If the consent of the Government of the United States of America is necessary, we respectfully request that the same be obtained."

Employees Seek Larger Bonuses From Aldermen

Members of the Civic Employees' Federation of Greater Victoria intend to ask the City Council for a cost-of-living bonus of $18.40 for married persons and $9.20 for those in a single category.

Present bonuses are $15 for married persons, $7.50 for single employees, and 60c per week for those in receipt of more than $2,100 per year.

Six delegates representing the Victoria Public Library, fire department, police department, school board and inside staff of the City Hall have prepared a brief for presentation to the City Council at its next meeting.

Members of the Civic Employees' Protective Association, which embraces outside employees engaged on public works and park and boulevard maintenance, withdrew from the Civic Employees' Federation last year. They will make separate representations to the council.

Residents Gradually Learning Mail Rates

Letters are still being posted in Victoria with insufficient postage, according to G. H. Gardiner, postmaster, but the number has been falling gradually since April 1, when rates were increased. Yesterday afternoon about two dozen letters marked "postage due" remained in the office, he said, although others had been handled during the day.

Very few mistakes are being made on air mail letters, he said, and the volume of mail has not decreased.

Mr. Gardiner said the staff is down to its last few four-cent stamps, and is endeavoring to make them last until a new series, to be issued shortly in Ottawa, is received here. The new stamps will be of four cents, for ordinary letters; seven cents, for air mail; fourteen cents, for registered mail; and seventeen cents, for special delivery air mail.

He later transferred to the Westminster Regiment, and arrived overseas in the Fall of 1941. His wife and son reside in Prince George. Two sisters, Mrs. W. C. Graves and Mrs. H. # Discussions on Utilities Are At Standstill

Premier John Hart stated yesterday he was awaiting a reply from Mayor Andrew McGavin and Mayor J. W. Cornett, Vancouver, as to whether they had discussed with adjoining municipalities plans to acquire assets of the B.C. Electric Railway Co., Ltd.

"If they have, the Provincial Government will meet their representatives. If they are interested, we will discuss procedure," the Premier stated.

Mayor McGavin stated last week that he and City Council representatives were ready to discuss procedure with a committee Premier Hart promised to appoint at the end of the last session. The Mayor did not think that Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt would enter into the picture at the present stage.

The Mayor received a letter from Mayor Cornett yesterday declining responsibility for delay in the proposed discussion. Mayor Cornett recalled that he and Mayor McGavin had interviewed the Premier on the question some time ago, and said that since that time the Premier had apparently changed the method of procedure and announced through the press that municipalities should be consulted.

Mayor Cornett suggested that until Victoria and Vancouver knew intentions of the Provincial Government, entry of a group of municipalities into the picture, with varying ideas and interests, would be of little help. Mayor McGavin said he agreed with the attitude of Mayor Cornett.

Fewer Food Parcels Sent Overseas Since Advent of Rationing

With the advent of rationing, and the closing out of various lines of food products, the number of food parcels now mailed to Great Britain is only half that sent during July and August of last year, G. H. Gardiner, postmaster, said yesterday.

An even sharper comparison, he said, is that which shows the present number of parcels mailed to be about one-tenth that sent in October in order to reach the United Kingdom in time for Christmas.

A few local residents are still able to send butter to friends overseas, he said, but the most popular commodities are candy, biscuits, sardines, shortbread, cheese, vegetable juices and coffee substitutes. Most of the parcels now contain clothing instead of food, he said.

Timber Output Down

Although hoping the deficiency may be made good by logging operations during the remainder of the year, Chief Forester C. D. Orchard reported yesterday a drop of 120,000,000 feet board measure of British Columbia timber production in January and February of this year.

The cut for these months was 224,104,481 f.b.m., as against 363,122,088 f.b.m. for the same period in 1942, a drop of about one-third.

Mr. Orchard attributes most of the decline to weather conditions.

A number will probably undergo revision because of curtailed gasoline allowances passed by the fuel controller.

WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT FACE PIMPLES

These disfiguring spots affecting the outer or surface layer of the skin often result from a temporary, minor disturbance, or from incorrect cleansing.

You can relieve the itchy, burning soreness and thereby help your skin by using an ointment whose medication stays in active contact with the pimply spots. Apply it every night and leave it on all night. It does a world of good.

For 45 years people have used Resinol Ointment to fill this need. It soothes the irritated oil ducts where many surface pimples start, and so aids healing. Carefully cleansing the skin with Resinol Soap helps to quicken the pleasing results. Its gently active lather is refreshing and it rinses easily.

Buy a jar of Resinol Ointment and cake of Resinol Soap from any druggist. For free sample, write Resinol, Dept. 3B, Baltimore, Md.

Oil Development Plan Considered

Following extensive surveys by Dr. T. B. Williams, Provincial geologist, who recently addressed the Kinsmen Club in Victoria, the Federal and Provincial Governments are continuing negotiations for the exploration and development of the oil resources of the Peace River area.

The Lone Mountain district, southeast of Commotion Creek and almost on the Alberta border, is one section to which attention has been paid. Recent Ottawa dispatches said that the Dominion Government stood prepared to proceed with oil-drilling operations in this province. It is nearly a year since Premier Hart, acting for the British Columbia Government, offered all potential oil resources of the Peace River to the Dominion for use during the war.

While there is reasonable prospect of action before long, Ottawa has not yet made a definite statement concerning the Lone Mountain area, Premier Hart declared yesterday.

Commemorative Dinner

Malahat Legion to Hear Talk on Britain

The regular monthly meeting of the Malahat Branch of the Canadian Legion has been altered to concur with a meeting being arranged by the branch to take place in S.L.A.A. Hall on Tuesday evening, April 13, to which the ladies of the W.A. are to be invited. An invitation has been extended to all veterans and their wives.

Robert Macnicol, executive secretary of the British Columbia Command, will be the speaker. Mr. Macnicol returned a short time ago from overseas, where he acted as manager in Great Britain for the Canadian Legion War Services. He was in Great Britain for eighteen months and will tell of his experiences. He will also deal with current events in so far as they affect the veterans and their dependents of previous wars and the present one.

What Today Means

ARIES

If April 7 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date will be from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m., from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m., and from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. The danger periods will be from 7:30 to 9:30 a.m., from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m. and from 9:30 to 11:30 p.m.

You will accomplish nothing by making others mad on April 7, for anger is apt to add to their perverseness and make them resentful no matter how justified your wrath might be. While it may be extremely difficult to practice self-control on this date you will have a great deal to gain by doing so, for lack of it will cause many people to suffer in varied ways. You have much to gain by expressing your love for those near and dear to you on this day, for the sentimental side of people will be revealed on the slightest provocation. If you seek the way you will find the means to be an influence for great good. Married, engaged and love-smitten couples will do well to realize that "pride is at the bottom of all great mistakes," and that a surplus amount of it can wreck happiness.

If you are a woman and April 7 is your birthday your personal appearance and charm of manner may have a decided bearing on whether or not you will have a successful future in either the commercial, professional or social world. Your vision and foresight should enable you to anticipate the moves you must make if your dreams are to be realized. As a professional entertainer, singer, businesswoman, secretary, librarian, writer, dietitian, trained nurse, doctor, lawyer, government employee, or in some activity closely related to your country's military activities, you should make an enviable record for yourself. By demonstrating your love and affection your married life ought to be a great success.

The child born on April 7 frequently acquires with surprising ease the idioms of close associates, so too much care cannot be given to the selection of his playmates and those entrusted with his care and upbringing. Every effort should be made to impress on this child the importance of being unselfish and generous. In proportion to the development of good traits and the suppressing of undesirable ones will depend the degree of this youngster's future success and popularity.

If you are a man and April 7 is your natal day, do not give in to a tendency to "drive" other people or you may find yourself living in a very discordant atmosphere. You must endeavor to adjust yourself to other people's peculiarities if you expect them to overlook yours. As a scientist, professional man, journalist, inventor, contractor, publicity man, horticulturist, agriculturist, lawyer, doctor, business executive, or as a wearer of one of your country's uniforms, you may win many honors and an excellent income.

"The Boy From Maine"

By KATHARINE BRUSH

CHAPTER LXIX

It was about eleven o'clock when he took Rosalie home from the restaurant where they had talked so long—and where he had said so little of all this. After he left her, he got back into the same taxi and drove uptown; he didn't specially want to go home, but he had given his home address for lack of any other plan, and he didn't revise it on the way. Now he kept thinking of all the things Rosalie had told him, and of all the things he hadn't thought to ask her—and of other things, too, that he had thought of, right enough, and longed to ask, but that some reserve born of their years apart had restrained him from putting into words. Was she in love with anybody? That was the chief question; it had occurred to him uncounted times in the few hours they were together, and all of his spoken inquiries had stemmed from it in a way. Somehow there was a curious comfort in the fact that she had had no date at all this evening; she had just been on her way home when they met.

Her apartment house was on lower Fifth Avenue, and it wasn't one of the newer houses, and he remembered that she had said the apartment itself was very small—only three rooms, of which the third was Peter's. He kept reviewing all the little facts she had given him, adding them together to make a picture of her present life. She hadn't complained of anything; she had merely mentioned her fallen fortunes in passing; she had either omitted or made light of all the difficulties she must have undergone—and must still be undergoing. He wondered whether now she was completely self-supporting, or whether the factory in Brockton, under the management of the new stepfather, was yielding sufficient profits to pay for Pete's schooling, for example. He even wondered whether Bailey had left any insurance. Her job here in New York was something the same as the first in Boston—receptionist—except that here it was in a private hospital. He knew it couldn't pay more than—well, what? He tried to figure. Tomorrow at the office he must find out what receptionists got, just for the sake of instance and comparison.

So he arrived at his own apartment house, finally, and his own numbered awning, and the two potted shrubs that flanked the doorway and the sleek lobby beyond.

Going up in the elevator he looked at his watch again. Eleven twenty. Bonnie wouldn't be there — she would have gone to supper somewhere, as she always did after her broadcast, which was from ten to ten thirty. Some of the little butterfly boys, or possibly several of them, would be with her.

She must have left the apartment in a hurry, as she always did, she and Eulalie had gone rushing out, bound for her dressing room at the studio, leaving things in their usual chaos here, and all the lights on. She liked bright lights, and the whole living-room glared at him now as he came in, and the mirrors were blinding. He went across and opened the French doors onto the terrace, to air out the stuffy steam-heat smell, and the dead smoke. This is no life, he thought, and never was. Look at this place.

He heard the last four words in his own mind, and he thought, That's a good idea, because you really got so used to things you didn't look, and didn't see them any more. He stood still, now, and looked around this living-room deliberately and carefully and slowly. He made his mind a blank; he didn't think at all, but simply saw.

Suddenly he had to get outside and he stepped out onto the terrace, in the Autumn cold. It was a fine night, with the New York sky still very blue—a kind of black-blue now. He looked downtown, at the long avenue strung with the beads of traffic, and at the big and little buildings, and the scrubwomen's lights in skyscrapers. He thought, it's different with most people. The trouble with most people is that they never know what they want—whereas I've always known, exactly—all my life—and never got it. And that's been my trouble.

He thought of Rosalie's still young and lovely face across the table, and her white throat rising from the shallow V of the black businesswoman's dress, and her exciting voice, and the same sudden smile that she had always had. He knew there was no real or definite promise in their having met today—none from her point of view, that was; and none he could rely on. She had said several little things that had made some allusion to future meetings—"Wait till you see Peter"; that had been one of them—but those were just the things that old friends said; they were just pleasant; they committed her to nothing. When he had left her at her apartment house he had said, "Are you in the phone book?" and "May I call you?" and Rosalie had said, "Yes, do," but with reserve, with mere politeness—because she couldn't say "No, don't"—and with the memory of Bonnie in her eyes . . .

So there was nothing really; there was no encouragement; there was no reason or justification for deciding—as he did now, suddenly, and irrevocably, and at long last—to rid himself of Bonnie, no matter what might happen after. It was as though this didn't involve Rosalie at all; it was a problem between Bonnie and himself, long overdue for settling. Seeing Rosalie again had crystallized it, that was all. Even if she never let him see her again, he must settle it anyway.

Navy Club Is Beaten

Sailor Icemen Lose in South

SAN DIEGO, Calif., April 6 (AP).—San Diego Skyhawks, champions of the Southern California Hockey League, won the opening game of a three-game total-goal series tonight, defeating the Royal Canadian Navy squad, of Victoria, B.C., 7-5.

With the Skyhawks one goal ahead, Lary Bots, San Diego boy, put the clincher on the game at 15:22 with a beautiful unassisted shot that whisked by the Canadian goalie, Chuck Rayner.

The teams spent the first half of the opening period feeling each other out before Bud Emery, on loan to the Skyhawks from the Montreal Canadiens, rippled the webbing from twenty feet out in 11:01. Brothers Max and Doug Bentley drew a double assist on the play.

Fourteen seconds later, the Skyhawks had scored again, Reg Bentley outguessing Goalie Rayner, unassisted, at 11:15.

Behind, 2 to 0, the navy boys charged back to take a 3-to-2 advantage at the end of the first period. First, Centre Joe MacArthur, taking a short pass from Bob Goldham, turned on the red light back of Goalie Turk Broda at 13:47, followed less than a minute later by a shot by Centre Gordon Perrie on an assist from Hal Brown at 14:42. With only fifteen seconds left in the stanza, Howie Hill rapped a short shot which skidded between Sands' legs and skipped past Broda unseen by the chunky Toronto Maple Leafs net minder. That marked the first and only time the Canadiens were in front.

The second stanza was all Skyhawks, as Max Bentley found pay ice at 6:25 and Don Blatnik at 15:45, the latter repeating with a short push shot of a free puck in front of the net. Doug Bentley closed out the three-point Skyhawk barrage in 19:37, skating through the entire Canadian team, zinging a pass to Brother Reg, taking it back and outwitting Rayner handily.

The play of Broda in the nets was a feature of the game, the Maple Leafs star coming up with seemingly impossible saves to turn back Navy scoring threats.

The two teams continue their series in Los Angeles Friday night.

Browns Are In Quandry

St. Louis Boss Has His Worries

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Mo., April 6 (AP).—Always the unruffled Alabama gentleman, Manager Luke Sewell, of the St. Louis Browns, was philosophic today over the discouraging outlook for his team, which once was highly regarded as a pennant contender.

"You don't know anything about anything this year," he said. "We're never going to know where we stand from one day to the next so we'll just have to be prepared for anything."

Right now, with two weeks to go before the opening of the season, there are only three positions, aside from pitching and catching, settled on the Browns' squad—George McQuinn at first base; Don Gutteridge at second and Chet Laabs in the outfield.

The Brown squad includes two players from the State of Washington, more than any other major league club. They are Harlond Clift, the veteran third baseman from Yakima, and Tony Cristcola, an outfielder who learned the game as a junior Legion and Whiteman College player at Walla Walla. Alan Strange, who came to St. Louis from the Seattle Rainiers two seasons ago, has dropped out this year in favor of his Seattle shipyard job).

Clift, expected in St. Louis tomorrow, faces the disadvantage of having missed practically all of the war-shortened Spring training period. He'll probably break into the line-up anyway, although he's a slow starter even under normal conditions.

STEPHENS WAITS FOR HIS CALL

As a temporary stop-gap, Vernon Stephens, who is 1A, will be available for shortstop until his draft board calls him. Outfielder Glenn McQuillen will report for military service any day. Outfielder Walt Judnich already is in the army.

Sewell, of course, has several candidates ready to step into the breach. Floyd Baker, a .326 hitting shortstop from San Antonio, and Mark Christman, coming back for another major league trial after several years at Toledo, are the contestants for Stephens' soon to be vacated berth.

Newcomers on Squad

JACK STEWART (Detroit)

LORNE CARR (Toronto)

Two newcomers added to this year's all-star hockey team chosen by the thirty sport writers for The Canadian Press. Stewart's sensational defence work throughout the schedule was one of the big factors in Detroit's victory march to the league title. He was the unanimous choice for left defence by the selectors, and he was honored as he paired up with Earl Seibert, veteran Chicago rearguard, who was the only player to retain his position from last season. Carr, one of the veterans in the line of service in the circuit, gained the right wing spot over Bryan Hextall, New York Rangers, who held it last year. Carr was a valuable man to the Maple Leafs during the schedule and was one of the main cogs in their offensives. It is safe to say that Lorne's brilliant playmaking and back-checking kept the Leafs high enough up the ladder to put them in the play-offs.

In the outfield, the manager has Mike Chartak and Cristcola as holdovers, Milt Byrnes, a light hitter from Toledo, and the veteran Mike Kreevich, signed as a free agent.

The Browns' best bets seem to lie in their possible hitting power and in the potentialities of their fifteen-man pitching staff. The catching will be competent with Rick Ferrell and Frank Hayes.

White, Mayo Aid Connie

WILMINGTON, Del., April 6 (AP).—The tip-off on Philadelphia Athletics this year is that Connie Mack believes Jojo White, once of Detroit Tigers, and Eddie Mayo, late of New York Giants and Boston Braves, are the "making" of his ball club.

"They," Mr. McGillicuddy tells you in all seriousness, "will perk up the team. They were major leaguers once, and our club is made up largely of young players."

Now Eddie and Jojo both are giving it the good old college try as they work into condition for their trip up the comeback road. But since both have been roaming around the Pacific Coast League, a fast double-A loop, the last few years, you might wonder how much of a comeback it was to come back with the A's, who appear to be going nowhere.

Mayo labored with the Giants in 1936 and the Braves in 1937, batting .199 for the one and .227 for the other. He has been doing some better-than-bad apple-boating with Los Angeles for the last four years. Jojo toured the Tiger outfield for seven seasons, starting in 1932, before dropping to Seattle. He had only one good hitting season when he batted .313.

Yet, on this A's team, they look good. Mayo has the third-base job sewed up tight. Jojo is still a fleet flycatcher and has been doing some clouting in the daily drills.

Dream Horse Is Off for Home

LOS ANGELES, April 6 (AP).—Meissen, the great flop of the American turf, is headed home to his native Peru, where he reigned and raced as a champion.

The giant thoroughbred—he stands seventeen hands—was brought to this country by A. T. Jergins, Hollywood turf director and wealthy oil man, at a cost of more than $100,000.

Jergins scoured South America for a horse which could win Santa Anita's prewar $100,000 golden gallop. He bought Meissen in Peru and he groomed the big fellow to become a "dream horse" of the turf.

But the dream turned into a nightmare when Meissen proved to be a dismal failure on American tracks.
